OKLAHOMA VOTERS
GO TO POLLS IN ALL
BUT FOUR COUNTIES

Special Election Being Carried Out Quietly in Seventy-Three Counties of State.

VICTORY FOR KLAN
VIRTUALLY CONCEDED

Walton's Personal Representative Admits Defeat; Armed Deputies Held in Readiness Throughout State.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Oct. 2.—Voters of Oklahoma are deciding today whether they will give the State Legislature authority to convene on their own call and investigate the official acts of the Governor with a view to impeachment.

Early indications were that in 73 counties, at least, the Governor's seventh-hour efforts to block the election would have no effect.

In three counties and part of a fourth the polls were not open.

In Bryan County Sheriff John Conn followed instructions of Gov. Walton and barred the election. An effort to obtain an injunction against him late yesterday in State District Court at Durant failed.

This afternoon, Federal Judge R. L. Williams organized an emergency election machine throughout the county, and citizens were soon casting ballots.

Clamarron and Harper counties were not voting because supplies have not been received from the State Election Board, and in Jefferson County a ballot shortage kept most of the polls closed.

Against the executive are rulings of the State Supreme Court, the Attorney-General and the State Election Board. These held in effect that no man has the power to prevent an election, once it is called. The Attorney-General sent orders to all county officials, instructing them to use every means to protect the voters.

Vote Goes on Quietly.
Reports received from various parts of the State early in the day indicated that the election was proceeding quietly. Hundreds of deputies are in readiness here to block voting or prevent any effort to stop voting, the county officers declared.

Ballots were being cast early today in the two counties, Nowata and Murray, where it was believed no voting would be permitted. Reports late last night indicated that county officers would prevent the opening of the polls in those counties.

Voting began in Tulsa County under guard of more than 500 armed deputy sheriffs. More than 300 deputies were assembled at the county house steps in readiness for action anywhere in the county.

A statement by R. R. Stevens, chief of Gov. Walton's civilian forces in Tulsa County, declared that "the special election is already won by the Klan."

"We concede we are beaten because the election is held," Stevens' statement continued. "We have received several reports that ballot boxes have been stuffed. As the boxes are in charge of the Sheriff's gunmen, we have not been able to investigate the reports."

"Ballot Integrity Gone."
"It is apparent that armed interference by representatives of the Klan and the manipulation of the election supplies already has destroyed the integrity of the ballot."

Special officers directed by Gov. Walton appeared at different points in the State yesterday and attempted to obtain the election supplies, but they were refused.

Six men who claim they were operatives from the Governor's office were arrested at Madill for threatening the secretary of the local election board.

The Governor, though he had declared the election scheduled for today invalid, last night issued a call for a special election on Dec. 6 to vote on the measure submitted to the voters today.

The Governor yesterday reconvened the State Election Board, and with two members friendly to his program, constituting a majority, orders were issued to county boards to halt the election. But the election machinery could not be stopped and the scope of the reconvening was extended late in the day to include the county boards as well as the State.

Then the courts entered the fight and in at least two counties the executive's plan was nullified by injunctions restraining the new board members from interfering with the work of the old board. This was in Oklahoma City and Ardmore.

NEW YORK AND LONDON
TWO-DAY MAIL SERVICE
PLANNED WITH THE ZR-3

REAR ADMIRAL WILLIAM A. MOFFETT, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the United States Navy, said today, just after the arrival of the ZR-1, that when the ZR-3, now being built in Germany, was completed, it would be put in mail service between New York and London on a schedule of two days.

The fastest ocean liners require nearly six days for the passage. The Admiral also indicated that the next long flight of the ZR-1 would be from Lakehurst to Panama and return via Cuba. He said a mooring mast was being set up in Panama to accommodate the ship.

The Admiral announced also that during the winter or next summer a reserve naval flying unit, properly equipped with ships, would be organized in St. Louis.

U. R. WORKMAN HIT
BY MOTOR TRUCK DIES

Death of James Killoren Makes 98th Auto Fatality Thus Far in 1923.

James Killoren, 50 years old, of 1524 Pendleton avenue, died at City Hospital at 1:30 p. m. today from injuries suffered two hours earlier when he was hit by a motor truck in front of 2735 Cass avenue.

Killoren, who was a workman for the United Railways Co., was sitting on a pile of stone paving blocks which had been removed from the space between the street car tracks, chipping them with a hammer, when a truck of the Union Ice and Fuel Co., driven by Spencer Renfro, 39, a negro, of 4225 Cosens avenue, came west on the north side of the street. The truck struck a loose paving block, swerved against a telephone pole, then shunted back and hit Killoren.

Killoren's legs were fractured and he was internally hurt. His death made the ninety-eighth automobile fatality in St. Louis this year, as compared with 94 in the corresponding period last year.

Renfro was ordered held for the coroner.

COOLIDGE TO KEEP HANDS OFF
Will Take No Action in New York or Kentucky Elections.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—President Coolidge does not intend to take any action by issuing statements or writing letters or in any other manner, in the congressional elections soon to be held in New York or in the State election in Kentucky.

The elections in the two states have been brought to the attention of the President, but it was said today that his interest in them was merely that of the average citizen.

MANY VISITORS IN ST. LOUIS TO VIEW
PROPHET'S PARADE

Out-of-Town Persons Begin Arriving Early to See Annual Pilgrimage of His Majesty.

CARNIVAL DANCE IN TWELFTH BOULEVARD

Three Bands to Provide Music for Merrymakers; Visit Is Forty-Fourth for the Prophet.

Visitors from Missouri and Illinois towns began arriving in large numbers this morning, to view the Velled Prophet's parade, which will start on its route through central and downtown streets at 6:45 this evening.

The Prophet's parade, as every year, precedes the ball, which is to be held in the Coliseum. The invitations now outstanding cover all the seating space of the Coliseum balcony and gallery, the floor being reserved for the ceremonial entrance of the Prophet, his train and his Queen and maids; and for the ballet exhibition, which is interspersed with this ceremonial, and the general dancing which follows it.

This year marks the Velled Prophet's forty-fourth appearance, his visit having been an annual event, beginning with 1878, except in the two war years, 1917-18.

Twelfth Boulevard Dance.

The parade is subject to postponement in the event of rain, but such a postponement has occurred only a very few times in the past. The ball is held regardless of the weather conditions.

A new event this year is the civic carnival and costume dance on Twelfth boulevard, between Olive and Locust streets, which is to begin after the Prophet's parade passes Twelfth boulevard on its way west out Washington avenue.

Three of the 15 bands in the parade are to fall out of the line at Twelfth, and as late as the public wishes to remain the musicians of these bands will play concert and dance music. Dancers must be in costume, but without masks. A space will be reserved for these dancers. Anyone may look on. Policemen will be on hand to see that no jam occurs, such as was experienced at the Missouri Centennial celebration, two years ago, in another section of Twelfth boulevard.

Besides this outdoor dancing, and the dancing in the Coliseum arena after the prophet has crowned his Queen, there will be dancing parties at the hotels and clubs. Many who attend the ball remain there only for the ceremonial part, and go elsewhere for supper and dancing.

Queen's Identity Mystery.

The identity of the Prophet's Queen, who is selected from among a previously announced list of 100 maids, will not be generally known until she enters the ballroom, about 11 p. m. This entrance follows the arrival of the prophet and his greeting to the retiring Queen, Miss Alice Busch.

Special suburban trains will run this afternoon and evening, and will largely increase the number of out-of-town visitors. The United Railways will maintain late service on all lines, and cars of the county lines will leave their regular starting places up to 1 a. m., except that the last car on the Clifton line will leave Skinker road at midnight.

Persons going to Union Station from the north while the parade is passing the station, beginning about 8:20 p. m., will be escorted through the parade line and across the street by policemen at frequent intervals.

Theaters Delay Performance to Give Sent Holders Chance to See Parade.

Performances tonight at the American and Shubert-Jefferson will not begin until 9 o'clock, to give seat holders a chance to view the Velled Prophet parade. The vaudeville program at the Orpheum will open at 8:45 o'clock, and the play at the Empress will not start until after the parade has passed Grand boulevard and Olive street. Smaller vaudeville houses have announced their shows will not begin until after the parade has passed their locations. Moving picture theater programs will not be altered.

Veteran Airplane Inventor Inspects Speed Planes Entered in Various Races.

Orville Wright, who with his brother was inventor of the first practical airplane, visited St. Louis Field yesterday and inspected the Wright and Curtiss speed planes entered in the races. He declined to make prophecies as to the speed marks these ships will set.

He emphasized in a talk with a Post-Dispatch reporter that he is no longer financially interested in the airplane industry, but maintains his scientific contacts with aeronautics. He has stopped piloting planes because the vibration troubles him, but he occasionally makes a flight as passenger.

ZR-1'S COMMANDER TELLS HOW SHIP SAILED TO ST. LOUIS

Dirigible Bucked Head Winds, but Flew 50 Miles an Hour After Rising to 4000 Feet to Clear Appalachians.

An aviation enthusiast who knew Commander F. R. McCrary, captain of the ZR-1, in the East, said as the great dirigible hovered over St. Louis Field this morning that the commander was not given to talking, although he keenly desired to create a favorable public impression of his aerial craft.

Commander McCrary's manner wholly allayed any uneasy feeling this statement may have caused among those waiting to receive him. With scores pressing him with questions as to the ship, the trip and a myriad other things, with the worry of preparing the craft to remain quietly attached to its human anchor for hours, and with the necessity of meeting his superior officer, Rear Admiral Moffett, and local officials, he remained courteous and ready with an answer for Mayor, Senator or youth.

There is something of the "grizzled sea dog" look about him, especially in his firm, squinting gaze. Yesterday was his forty-fourth birthday. How did he celebrate?

"Well," he said, "I got up early to take the ship out here."

His home is Lone Oak, Ark., he said. "I didn't know anybody up here ever heard of it." He is married and has two sons.

After four years at Annapolis he became a naval officer in 1901. He had sea experience "most everywhere," and later went into the air service. During the World War he commanded four naval air stations in Ireland.

"What kind of a trip did you have?" was the question uppermost in the minds of committeemen, reporters and spectators who dogged the commander's steps.

There was nothing unusual, he replied, except for strong head winds yesterday.

"An hour after we left Lakehurst," he said, "we were told by radio that the wind was blowing there at 30 miles an hour. We couldn't have left in such a wind."

Bucking the Wind.
The difficulty caused by the wind would have been in getting the monster ship out of its hangar safely.

"You sail all right in the wind, don't you?" asked Mayor Kiel.

"Surely. We buck the wind and try to hold our ground course, but we had to veer 4 degrees by the compass to do that yesterday. Head winds slow our ground speed considerably."

Then came one of the numerous interruptions for photographs. The commander was an outstanding figure among blue navy uniforms and business suits, for he wore a khaki flying suit, the turned-down collar of which betrayed his fur lining, and soft leather high-laced moccasins. His helmet and goggles dangled from a pocket. His curly dark hair was free to the breeze, and a stubble on his face indicated shaving had not been one of the amusements of the flight. A somewhat oil-stained collar encased a regulation black tie.

Commander McCrary started to peel off his flying suit. He sat down on a rail around the bottom of the forward cabin, and the suit came off like overalls, revealing that he was wearing a regulation brass-buttoned blue uniform, but that he was not ready to pass a formal inspection because of wrinkles and fluff from the fur lining.

The crew, Commander McCrary said, numbered 40 or 42 men and there were no stowaways that he knew of, though there appeared to be some inviting recesses for the adventurous.

Here at 4 O'clock.
"We were able to make about 50 miles an hour from Pittsburgh on," he continued, making a concession to landlubbers by not speaking in terms of knots.

"McCook Field, at Dayton, O., put their searchlights on us during the night."

"We didn't follow a direct course. We left Lakehurst at 6:37 a. m. yesterday, Eastern time, and headed for the West at about 30 miles an hour. She was piloted by Lieut. Harold R. Harris, assisted by Lieut. M. S. Fairchild and Douglas Culver, engineer, and carried Walter Henry Barling, her designer and builder."

The six motors were functioning properly as she passed over the business section of the city. This is the first long trip for the Barling.

In addition to the personnel mentioned, the Barling carried Lieuts. A. L. Johnson and Ernest Dickman and Mechanics Clyde Reitz, Sam Irvine and George Deale.

The Barling bomber, due at Scott Field between 2:30 and 3:30 this afternoon, will remain there until tomorrow, making the flight over St. Louis to St. Louis Field at an hour tomorrow to be determined later, it was announced this afternoon by Major-General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the Army Air Service.

ADMIRAL MOFFETT FLIES
IN ZR-1 TO NEW JERSEY TO SHOW CONFIDENCE IN SHIP

THE flag of a Rear Admiral of the United States Navy, boarded the ZR-1 for the first time in history from a rigid dirigible in St. Louis today when Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the United States Navy, boarded the ZR-1 for the return journey to Lakehurst, N. J. It was his first trip in the craft.

"I accepted the invitation of the ship's commander for passage," the Admiral said, "solely to demonstrate to the American people my confidence in the ZR-1."

"It was the navy's greatest achievement in aviation," Admiral Moffett enthusiastically declared as he congratulated Commander McCrary, officer in charge of the ship after it landed at St. Louis Field.

Admiral Moffett, upon disembarking at Lakehurst, will take a train for St. Louis, to be present at the Pulitzer Trophy race Saturday.

GIANT BARLING PLANE LEAVES
DAYTON ON TRIP TO ST. LOUIS

Bomber Takes Off, Flying at 90 Miles an Hour; Six Motors Being Used.

DAYTON, O., Oct. 2.—The giant Barling bomber left Wilbur Wright Field at 10:30 a. m. today for St. Louis, by way of Scott Field. She took the air in 13 seconds, dived a time or two, passed over Dayton and headed for the West at about 30 miles an hour. She was piloted by Lieut. Harold R. Harris, assisted by Lieut. M. S. Fairchild and Douglas Culver, engineer, and carried Walter Henry Barling, her designer and builder.

The six motors were functioning properly as she passed over the business section of the city. This is the first long trip for the Barling.

Flight Marks First Successful Use of Noninflammable Helium Gas by U. S. Navy Aircraft on Long Distance Flight.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—The Navy dirigible ZR-1 passed over Delavan, Ill., 117 miles from Chicago, at 1:20 p. m. today, having been delayed two hours by headwinds, according to local naval radio station advices. Indications were then that the ship could not reach Chicago until about 5 p. m. Owing to the limited fuel supply and the necessity of reaching the home hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., by an early hour tomorrow, the dirigible will not proceed north beyond Chicago, naval radio communications said.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 2.—The ZR-1, flying from St. Louis to Chicago and thence east to Lakehurst, N. J., passed over Springfield this afternoon at 12:10 o'clock.

The Navy's whale of a ship, the ZR-1, largest aircraft in the world, arrived in St. Louis today at 3:45 a. m. and sported and played about in the dawn above the city for four hours before nosing down at Bridgeport field, where it was landed at 7:45 a. m. in a gentle breeze.

It was announced the ship would remain until 4 a. m., but the gentle breeze strengthened and the big ship began to tug at her human anchor so willfully that it was decided for safety's sake to take off earlier. She rose at 3:45 a. m., escorted by four navy airplanes, poked back to the city, circled about till her Commander seemed satisfied that all had a chance to see her, then bore away toward Chicago on the first leg of the return flight to the hangar at Lakehurst, N. J.

The flight marks the first successful use of noninflammable helium gas by United States navy aircraft on a long distance flight. The flight to St. Louis was approximately 1000 miles. The return will be about the same.

Passes Over Sleeping City.
The sun and the city were still slumbering when the thrum of the great ship's engines heralded her arrival over Scott Field at 3:15 a. m. Belle Isle was passed at 3:30 a. m. and the ship crossed the Mississippi at 3:45. She headed westward and made a reconnaissance of the city. Her altitude was not great and, though throttled down to half speed, her engines made unaccustomed sound to sleeping St. Louis and thousands tumbled out of bed to see in the sky the dark outline of the great 680-foot cruiser, sparkling with her signal lights and her portholes pouring light in the darkness.

The night guard of the ship was revealed, loafing through the morning air like a great porpoise secure on a vacant ocean. At times the propellers stopped and the ship drifted patiently about, while she awaited the appointed hour of her coming, 7 a. m. At other times she poked her nose upward till seemingly near perpendicular and then, very suddenly, she nosed downward.

AIR PROGRAM SET FOR SUNDAY TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW

Toy Plane Race, Arrival of Barling Bomber, Demonstrations and Speed Trials on Program.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY

Mayor Kiel Designates Tomorrow as Holiday—Sham Battle in Air Will Be One of Features.

Exhibitions serving as preliminaries to the international air races the last three days of the week will be staged at St. Louis Field tomorrow, unless rain today or tonight makes another postponement necessary.

The program is to be substantially the same as originally set for last Sunday, and an admission of 50 cents will be charged. The Mulvihill Trophy race for toy airplanes is scheduled for 2 p. m. tomorrow, the Barling Bomber is expected to make its arrival at St. Louis Field, there will be formation flying, bombing demonstrations and trials of speed planes entered in the Pulitzer Race.

Public schools of the city are to be dismissed for the day and Mayor Kiel has issued a proclamation designating tomorrow as a holiday.

Will Hold Sham Battle. Major General Patrick, Chief of the Army Air Service, and Rear Admiral Moffett, Chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, announced last night that there would be no cancellation of the air races because of bad weather and that Army and Navy airmen would remain until all events were run off.

Gates at the field will be opened to the public at 11 a. m. tomorrow. The first event of the day, which will be called soon afterward, is to be formation flying by 15 planes from Kelly Field, Tex. They will move in groups of five, and will turn the pylon in front of the grandstand 100 feet from the ground. Three Martin bombers will take the air next. A trio of MB-3 fighters next will entertain with maneuvers and a sham battle in the air.

Lieut. Frank Hunter, who was credited with eight enemy planes during the war, will pilot one of the fighters and demonstrate his method of attacking a hostile craft. The nonrigid dirigibles TC-3 and RN-1, from Scott Field, will be on inspection at St. Louis Field throughout the day.

The airplane T-2, which flew from coast to coast, will be flown in exhibition by Lieut. Van Veghten of McCook Field, O.

A special plane from Langley Field, Va., will then attempt to lay a smoke screen.

About the middle of the afternoon, if weather and field conditions permit, the three navy racing planes which have not yet been tested over the course will fly. The fourth navy entrant was tried out Saturday and made about 200 miles an hour, although opened up only about two-thirds of its expected maximum speed.

The St. Louis Air Board yesterday afternoon ratified the decision to stage the program set for last Sunday tomorrow and to prevent Monday's race schedule on Thursday.

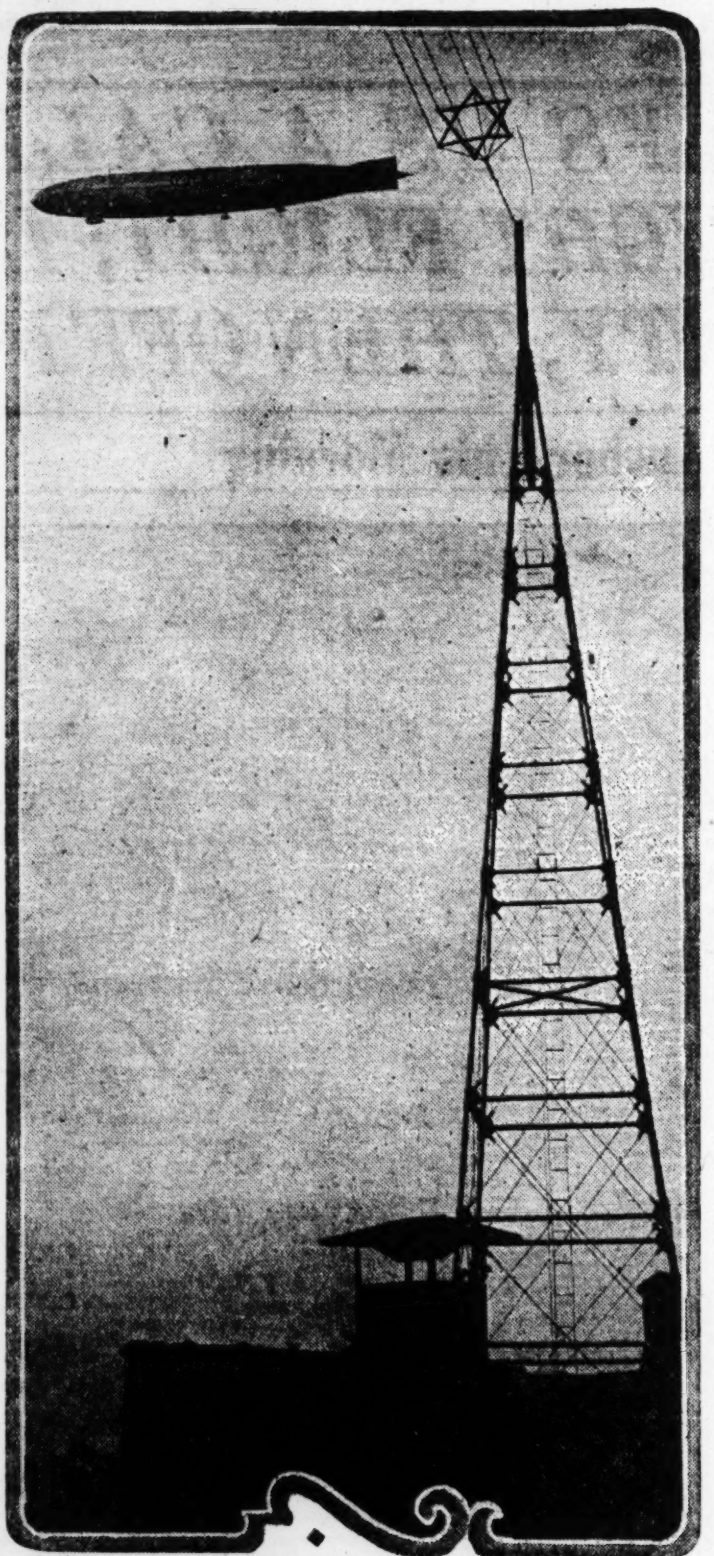

Tuesday's schedule on Friday, and Wednesday's schedule on Saturday. It left to the ticket selling forces at the field decision as to refund of money on tickets for any reason.

Report on Community Fund Collections.

The Community Fund, in September, collected $156,285 on its pledges for the calendar year 1928, which was at the rate of more than $200 a day, a report made to the Board of Trustees by Richard S. Hawes, treasurer of the fund, shows. The collections were "greatly improved" over August. "With the amount collected in September there now has been paid a total of $885,025 on its pledges of $1,116,407.

ZR-1'S COMMANDER TELLS HOW SHIP SAILED TO ST. LOUIS

had warm drinks in thermos bottles and previously cooked food, but I haven't had breakfast yet. We had some sleep in our bunk.

Some one produced cigarettes, and the commander accepted one. A petty officer called a warning not to smoke too near the ship. "I thought she was filled with helium and wouldn't explode," a bystander exclaimed, which brought the explanation from the commander that there was plenty of gasoline which would cause havoc enough.

"That started a discussion about gasoline and gas.

"We started out with 36 tanks full of gasoline, each with 113 gallons to the tank," the commander related. "That made 4068 gallons of gasoline, to which we added 350 gallons here.

"We carry a little over 2,000,000 cubic feet of helium. One million cubic feet annually will be required for operation, it is figured.

"We lose a little gas right along, because we have to valve some out occasionally in navigating the ship.

"We probably had to valve out a hundred cubic feet in getting down here, because we were constantly losing weight by consumption of gasoline and dropping of water ballast.

"That's why we made several circles before landing to save gas and the taxpayers' money."

"I know just how you felt," Mayor Kiel exclaimed.

It costs $175 per 1000 cubic feet to put helium in the ZR-1, so it will cost $175,000 a year for helium for the dirigible.

Round Trip About 2000 Miles. The trip from Lakehurst to St. Louis as the ZR-1 flew, was about 1000 miles. The round-trip, when completed early tomorrow, will have been about 2000 miles and will be the longest the big ship has made in the month it has been flying.

Previous trips were about 600 miles, 360 miles and several short flights.

"How did she work?" the commander was asked.

"She's all right," he replied. "Everything functioned well. You people in St. Louis were lucky to have the clear weather you had today, after your storms, or we couldn't have come."

Navigation of the ZR-1 is like that of a power-driven craft, and its nomenclature is wholly nautical. Even when she is flying at several hundred feet altitude, earbound persons can hear jangling bells from the "bridge" in the "forward cabin" to the engine rooms "aft."

The crew lives in the six cabins during a flight, though it is possible to climb from one cabin to another throughout the big airship. In all, there are 24 folding bunks. The crew stand watches deep sea fashion, and those off watch put their own blankets in bunks near their posts and sleep.

Cooking also is an individual matter. Nourishing condensed foods, such as canned soup, are carried and it is easy to heat them on the motor exhausts, which are very hot.

Rear Admiral Moffett, head of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, who was on hand to make the return flight, was requested to pose with Commander McCray. They took a formal pose till a photographer called, "Oh, shake hands."

whereupon the Admiral grasped his subordinate's hand, slapped his back and exclaimed, "God bless you."

Mayor Kiel and Air Board officials greeted Commander McCray to consider keeping ZR-1 here over night, to take part in tomorrow's exhibition in advance of the opening of the races. However, the commander felt it would be unsafe to attempt this.

The only way the craft could have been kept at St. Louis Field, in the absence of a hangar or mooring mast, would have been by having the ship at Scott Field would be required to get her in and out of the ships there would have been left without a place to stay in safety.

Two St. Louis Members of ZR-1 Crew Greeted by Their Parents.

Two St. Louisans are members of the ZR-1's crew. One, Sylvester Schields, 32, of 4449 Farlin avenue, is chief rigger. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Schields and four sisters, greeted him at Bridgeton Field today.

The other St. Louisan, F. T. Moormann, 37, is chief machinist's mate and resides at 4023 Ohio avenue. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Moormann, greeted him. Both Schields and Moormann were members of the crew of the ZR-2, which fell in the Thames. They were not aboard at the time.

GERMAN TROOPS DISARM REBEL FORCE QUICKLY

Berlin Says Participants in Kuestrin Attack, Numbering 400, Were Captured, Several Being Wounded.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—It is officially announced that the participants in the insurrection at Kuestrin yesterday, numbering about 400 men, have been captured and disarmed. The rebels lost one killed and several wounded. There were no losses among the Government forces. The troops ordered to Kuestrin as reinforcements are returning to their stations.

In the opinion of officials here, the revolt actually served a useful purpose, inasmuch as it gave notice that the Government was prepared to put down immediately any attempts at insurrection.

Censorship Enforced Rigorously. The censorship is being rigorously enforced and little is known of what is happening. A brief communiqué fails to shed much light on the situation, but it would appear that while the insurgents were principally members of Nationalist Associations, they were supported by communists.

There are indications that the situation is graver than the communication admits. It is pointed out that the communication does not especially assert that the movement has been suppressed. Unofficially, it is stated that no blood was shed during the disorders. One of the ring-leaders arrested, and who is threatening with the death penalty, is a former Major in the German army. Minor disturbances were reported yesterday from Wolfenbutel, and Halberstadt, where communist gatherings are said to have been forcibly dispersed.

Occupation Officials Order Security Police to Be Disbanded.

By the Associated Press.

DUESSELDORF, Oct. 2.—The Security police force of this city, which has been formally charged with entire responsibility for last Sunday's rioting, in which 10 persons were killed and more than 400 injured, 200 seriously, has been decreed out of existence by the authorities of occupation.

Sixty criminal prisoners overpowered their guards and escaped from prison after the rioting in the city had subsided. Evidently they learned that the Security police had been arrested and disarmed and they took advantage of the opportunity to escape. It is reported that several of them were killed or wounded in a fight with the guards, and the Blue police recaptured and brought back some others.

The prison from which the men escaped is the one in which the Krupp officials and other political prisoners have been detained. It is guarded by both Germans and French.

RN-1, LARGEST NONRIGID AIRSHIP, TO BE SEEN HERE

Craft Purchased From French Government Being Inflated for Trials at Scott Field.

Having been the largest rigid airship in the world, St. Louisans tomorrow will see the largest non-rigid ship, the new RN-1, or Zodiak airship, which is being inflated for trials at Scott Field.

Major John A. Fugelow, commander of the field, said today that if the trial flight was successful—and there was no reason to doubt that it would be—that the ship would be flown tomorrow to Bridgeton Field, where the preliminary program for the air races will be in progress.

The RN-1, purchased from the French Government, has a carrying capacity of a crew of six, 23 passengers and a load of 10,000 pounds of freight. It has a luxurious cabin, so built as to afford a clear view of the ground. It was designed and used by the French for coastal patrol work during the war.

The ship is 242 feet long, compared with 680 for the ZR-1. Its horsepower is 800, compared with 1800 in the big navy ship, and has a cruising speed of 47½ miles per hour. Its height is 74 feet. Gas capacity is 260,000 cubic feet and it has been rebuilt at Scott Field for the use of helium.

Major Kiel and Air Board officials greeted Commander McCray to consider keeping ZR-1 here over night, to take part in tomorrow's exhibition in advance of the opening of the races. However, the commander felt it would be unsafe to attempt this.

The only way the craft could have been kept at St. Louis Field, in the absence of a hangar or mooring mast, would have been by having the ship at Scott Field would be required to get her in and out of the ships there would have been left without a place to stay in safety.

Dose Taken by Mistake Fatal.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—Philip A. Altland, 62 years old, an insurance agent and a former St. Louisan, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ray Saner, in York, Pa., from the effects of a dose of an ounce and a half of camphorated oil, which he took by mistake eight weeks ago.

ROUTE OF THE VEILED PROPHET PARADE TONIGHT NEW IN WESTERN PART

THE route of the Veiled Prophet's parade tonight is a new one, as to its western part, and time schedules have not been figured out so exactly as was done for the old route, traversed for many years past.

The route is: Start from Laclede and Ranney avenues, 8:45 p. m. West on Laclede avenue to Vandeventer avenue. North on Vandeventer avenue to Olive street. East on Olive street to Grand boulevard.

South on Grand boulevard to Laclede avenue. East on Laclede avenue to Market street.

East on Market street, head of line reaching Union Station at 8:20 p. m., to Twelfth boulevard.

North on Twelfth boulevard to Olive street. East on Olive street to Fourth street.

North on Fourth street to Washington avenue. West on Washington avenue to Jefferson avenue.

South on Jefferson avenue to Locust street.

Theme "Romance and Adventure"—Order of Floats.

The general theme of the parade is "Romance and Adventure," and the floats, in their order, will be:

1. Prophet's Float.

2. Title Float.

3. The Norsemen—Romance of the Sea.

4. Ben Hur and His Chariot Race.

5. Omar the Tentmaker—Romance of the Orient.

6. John Alden and Priscilla.

7. Ponce de Leon.

8. Peter Pan—Romance of Childhood.

9. Three Musketeers.

10. Scottish Chiefs.

11. Cleopatra and Marc Antony.

12. Gold Seekers of '49.

MAUGHAN LOOKS FOR RECORD HE MADE IN 1922 TO BE BEATEN

Lieutenant Established Mark of 236 Miles an Hour to Win Pulitzer Prize.

Lieut. Russell Maughan, winner of last year's Pulitzer race at Detroit, where he established a speed record of 236 miles an hour, said today, after he had looked over the speed planes at St. Louis Field, that he did not expect his mark to stand after the race Saturday.

He was particularly pleased with one of the Curtiss navy racers, examining it thoroughly and handling the controls.

Maughan made two attempts to cross the continent between dawn and dusk last summer, but was forced down each time by mechanical defects in his machine. On the last trip he reached Cold Springs, Wyo.

He discussed his flights with a Post-Dispatch reporter, mentioning that he had been particularly pleased with one of the Curtiss navy racers, examining it thoroughly and handling the controls.

SUES TO FORECLOSE UNITED RAILWAY BONDS

Colorado Man Attacks Receiver-ship as Illegal and Wants Unity of Company Retained.

Suit to foreclose the $30,000,000 bond issue of the United Railways Co., of 1899, filed in Federal Court today, referred to Receiver Rolla Wells, named with the company, and St. Louis Union Trust Co., trustee, as defendant, as de facto receiver.

The suit was filed by Ephraim Kaplan, as counsel for Milton von Boston, of Colorado, holder of $4000 of the general mortgage bonds of the company.

The petition recites that Receiver Wells is in charge of the street railway property "pursuant to a void and pretended order of the Federal Court in an alleged cause of action brought by Sam W. Adler against the United Railways Co. et al."

Receivership Again Attacked. Kaplan, who represented the intervening stockholders in the Adler suit, still contends that the Federal Court had no jurisdiction to place the United Railways Co. in receivership under the Adler pleading, but in this case he has been overruled by the Federal Court and the United States Court of Appeals.

The Von Boston petition asks for an accounting of all the United Railways properties, for the appointment of a receiver or receivers to take charge of the property and the company's earnings "to prevent threatened segregation and dismemberment of the entire street railway system, to prevent executions and attachments and to continue the business of the company as a unit."

The Court is asked to issue an injunction enjoining the defendants from interfering with them, transferring, selling or disposing, incumbering or disturbing any of the franchises or other rights of the company, or in any way to interfere with the receiver or receivers to be appointed.

The petition further requests that all "pretended decrees and orders made under the Adler suit, including the appointment of Receiver Wells, be vacated."

Alleged Basis for Suit. The basis for the suit, it is alleged, is the fact that Receiver Wells has been extending the various underlying bonds of the company at higher rates of interest than called for, and that this excess rate has been approximately 70 per cent. The company, it is charged, has been paying 11 per cent interest on bonds, due to higher rates of interest demanded and the cost of commissions for placing the bonds, although the bonds call for from 4 to 6 per cent.

Judge Faris said that he would take the application for a receiver under consideration. He pointed out that Von Boston was only one of the many of the company's bondholders, and indicated that the court would give other interested parties an opportunity to be heard.

ALLIES OUT OF CONSTANTINOPLE Occupation Formally Ends With Last of Troops Gone.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—The allied occupation of Constantinople formally ended at noon today. For weeks transports have been evacuating troops and material, while one by one the warships have slipped away, thus making today's ceremony merely a brief military ceremony.

He chatted with his friend, Col. H. E. Hartney, who reminded him that in 1920 the Army Air Service ordered Maughan not to fly again because of a defect in one eye. Hartney went to the front for the young pilot and obtained a revocation of the order. As it developed, Maughan became even more dexterous and ultimately won the Pulitzer Trophy.

The pilot's eye trouble has entirely disappeared, he said. He was barred from participation in this year's speed classic by an army ruling limiting a pilot to one entrance in the Pulitzer race.

Maughan was accompanied to the field by Reed Landis, son of former Judge Kansaw Landis, and chairman of the National Aeronautical Committee of the American Legion. After the races Landis plans to fly by airplane to San Francisco to attend the American Legion convention. He will remain here for the races.

ZR-1 TO BE NAMED 'SHENANDOAH,' MEANING DAUGHTER OF THE STARS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY DENBY has decided America's dirigibles shall not be known by algebraic formulae, but by distinctive names.

The ZR-1, which arrived in St. Louis today, will be christened Oct. 10, at Lakehurst, N. J. Her name, the choice of the Secretary of the Navy, will be the "U. S. S. Shenandoah." Shenandoah, an Indian word, means "daughter of the stars." Mrs. Denby will be sponsor.

Plans for the christening call for the release of carrier pigeons, one of which will carry word to President Coolidge that the ship has become the Shenandoah.

CURTISS 18-T TO ANSWER GUN FOR THIRD TIME IN SPEED RACE

"Humming Bird" Triplane Is Navy's Entrant in Contest for Observation Machines.

The race for two-place observation planes will mark the third time that the Curtiss 18-T, the Navy's entrant in this event, has answered the starting gun in a major speed contest.

The 18-T is a triplane capable of a speed better than 150 miles an hour. In 1920 this veteran speedster started in the first Pulitzer Race on Long Island but was forced out before the finish. Last year Lieut. L. H. Sanderson, the flying Marine who will pilot one of the Navy's Curtiss entrants in the Pulitzer Trophy Race Saturday, led the field in the Curtiss-Marine Race by 12 miles with the 18-T until the gas ran out. Due to the three planes and the number of wires used in its construction, the 18-T makes a singing noise in flight more pronounced than the sound of the motor, which has earned it the sobriquet of "humming bird" at St. Louis Field.

The 18-T was the Navy's first extensive effort at the development of speed planes. It was built in 1913 with pontoon landing gear and has been transformed from a water to a land plane several times. It will be piloted in the observation race by Ensign Adolph C. Allen, of Los Angeles, Cal. Ensign Allen has been in the Navy's Air Service five years but this is his first race. He is 27 years old and stationed at Washington, D. C.

M'CRAV'S FRIEND CHARGES COOLIDGE ORDERED INQUIRY

Declares Republican Leaders Fear Effect of Indiana Governor's Financial Collapse.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 2.—Charges that the Republican State Committee meeting, held yesterday to consider the financial difficulties of Gov. McCray, was ordered by President Coolidge at the instigation of Former Gov. James P. Goodrich, were made today by John Moorman of Knox, Ind., a close friend of McCray and active in the campaign for his election.

Moorman declared that the "hub of the whole effort to remove Gov. McCray from office" is the fear of Republican leaders "that they will be held responsible for the depression in the value of farm lands and farm products, and they are alarmed over the effects that may follow in the wake of such a notable example as the collapse of the Governor's fortune."

ZR-1 as She Appeared Anchored This Morning in St. Louis Flying Field

SCHOOLS TO BE CLOSED TOMORROW SO PUPILS MAY VISIT AIR FIELD

THE public schools of the city will be closed all day tomorrow, as was originally announced, in order that the pupils may have an opportunity to visit St. Louis Field. A special program of air maneuvers and aeronautical exhibits has been arranged, and the Mulvhill trophy contest for model airplanes operated by rubber bands will be held. Admission will be 50 cents.

Major Kiel's proclamation designating tomorrow as a holiday will stand as originally announced. The city offices will be closed and many business houses are expected to grant all or part of the day to their employees.

On the two forward side cabins were stepped and then reversed, as a means of preserving the ship's balance and counteracting the downward momentum. The descent was made so successfully that the ship was practically at a standstill when the soldiers hauled her down.

Hundreds of spectators were admitted to the inner field as the landing was made, and Admiral Moffett, the Mayor and Air Board officials greeted Capt. McCreary and escorted him to breakfast. Capt. Heinemann, started for breakfast, soon after 8 o'clock, he announced the leaving time as 11 and outlined the route, with instructions as to maneuvers over the lake front at Chicago, and for southern course over South Bend, Detroit, Toledo and Cleveland, to avoid crossing the Canadian border.

When the presence of the dirigible became known, St. Louis was again to swim to Bridgeton by automobile. At the time of departure about 3000 persons were on the field and many thousands of others lined the roads in every direction. It was estimated that about 7000 persons were in and about the field.

Capt. Heinemann, in snatches of conversation at the windows of the cabin, had repeated his predictions, made after the earlier flights of the ZR-1 to New York and Philadelphia, that this ship would be the "turning point" in the success of lighter-than-air craft in this country. He believes the ZR-1 to be suited to any transoceanic route and says it could carry passengers from New York to Buenos Aires in five days and that it will prove air transport to be safer, as well as quicker, than rail transport.

After the officers and crew had had breakfast, it was decided to shorten the stay at the field, to give more time for cruising over the city, and because of the increasing wind, which made it more difficult to hold the ship than it had been to land her.

About 8:30, after official good-byes, the officers returned to the cabin and the raising of the ropes began. At 9:40 the ZR-1 took the air and sailed first to the west, then, on a higher altitude, due east toward the city.

The mechanics of departure was simple. There was a jangle of signal bells. The four propellers along the ship's side toward its center began to revolve slowly. The soldiers holding the forward rope released their hold at a signal from the forward control gondola. The ship nosed upward.

A fraction of a minute later the soldiers at the rear anchor rope let go and members of the ship's crew standing on the outside of the rear gondola, and clinging to rigging snatched up the rope into the car quickly. It must not interfere with the rear propeller. At the release of the aft ropes the ship rose in a Course Over City.

After skirting the northwest portion of the city and laying its course parallel with the Mississippi River, the big ship turned southward about on a line with Grand avenue. About 15 minutes after taking off at St. Louis Field it veered eastward and followed the line of Olive street into the downtown district.

When about over Eighteenth street it again changed its course to the northeast and passed directly over the Post-Dispatch building at a height of 2000 feet. Even at that distance the ribs and the markings of the fabric covering of the big framework were plainly visible to the thousands of watchers on the roofs and in the windows of downtown buildings, as well as on the streets.

Four airplanes which conveyed the giant dirigible looked ridiculously small in comparison with the levitation of the air.

The ZR-1 passed directly over the north radio aerial tower on the Post-Dispatch Building on its northeastward course which soon carried it over the river. After crossing the Mississippi it cruised about for a time at low speed and made one complete turn before resuming its journey.

The airplane convoy accompanied it across the river and then returned to St. Louis Field.

Before taking off the ship's officers computed that they would reach Chicago by 4 p. m., Cleveland by midnight and Lakehurst by morning. No landing is planned on the return trip.

Residents of regions over which the aerial levitation passed during the night did not miss the sight, provided the moon was shining. The ZR-1 is covered with paint in which silver is the base, so reflected vividly the rays of the moon.

Starting her flight from Lakehurst at 6:59 a. m. yesterday, the ship encountered a 25-mile-an-hour wind from the northwest by the time she had reached an elevation of 1000 feet, and was forced to battle head winds.

"Mr Was 'Bumpy'." These cut down her progress so that when the ship passed over Mount Holly, N. J., her "ground speed" was only 17 knots an hour, although her air speed was 41 knots.

The unfavorable weather continued as the ZR-1 flew over Philadelphia, Reading and Harrisburg, Pa. At 12:45 p. m., 13 miles beyond Harrisburg, which she had passed an hour before, the strength of the wind decreased to some extent, but the air continued "bumpy" and it was not until the vicinity of Pittsburgh was reached that the ship's ground progress exceeded her air speed.

Zanesville and Springfield, O., were but behind and the ship passed over Dayton, O., at 7:48 p. m., central standard time, searchlights from McCook Field playing on her silver sides as she went by. After flying over Cincinnati an hour and a half later, the dirigible traversed a section of Kentucky, including Independence, near Louisville.

Drops Notes Over Home Town.

Boonville, Ind., the home of Commander Ralph D. Weyerbacher, designer and supervising constructor of the ZR-1, was reached at 11:45 p. m., the ship circling over the house where Weyerbacher was born, while whistles sounded and bells rang in his honor.

A bouquet of dahlias and two notes were dropped in a parachute from the dirigible by Commander Weyerbacher, but were not found until this morning, when they were discovered in a yard 150 feet from the home of his parents.

One note read: "On board ZR-1. Flowers and love to mother dear," and was signed "Ralph." The other read: "Salute to you, my fellow townsmen," of whom 3000 were out to see the ship pass.

Weather conditions had become favorable so that when the ship reached Evansville, Ind., at midnight, she was flying smoothly, making about 40 knots an hour with her motors going at only half speed. Carmel, Ill., was put behind an hour later, and over Illinois the ship's speed became so much faster than had been calculated that a radio dispatch was sent to Capt. Frank McCreary, commander, by Admiral William A. Moffett, Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy Department, to reduce his speed to avoid arriving in St. Louis too early.

Six Engines Drive ZR-1 Which Has 4500-Mile Cruising Course.

Dimensions of the ZR-1 are as follows: Length, 680 feet; height, with suspended cars, 96 feet; diameter, 78 feet. The gas capacity is 2,150,000 cubic feet of noninflammable helium gas, carried inside the ship's frame in 20 compartments of cotton fabric, lined with gold-beater skin, a fine product from the intestines of cattle.

Power is furnished by six Packard six-cylinder engines, each developing 260 to 340 horsepower. The engines are coupled singly to with six propellers. The dead weight is 74,360 pounds; total lift of gas cells, 103,000 pounds.

The cruising radius of the ship is 4500 miles, and it is thought she could remain in the air about four days and nights of cruising at 50 miles an hour. The fuel used is gasoline, and the ship has a fuel carrying capacity of nearly 5000 gallons. The propellers are 17 feet 6 inches from tip to tip, and weigh 258 pounds each. They are driven through gears at 500 revolutions a minute, the motors making 1450 revolutions a minute.

EXPLOSION SHAKES BUILDINGS DOWNTOWN

Store at 622 Chestnut Street Wrecked—Negro Seriously Injured.

A terrific explosion, the cause of which has not been explained, shook buildings near Seventh and Chestnut streets at 3:15 a. m. today, severely injuring a negro, shattering hundreds of window-panes, wrecking the interior of a clothes cleaning shop and routing hotel guests from bed. Firemen said the center of the explosion was in the shop of the Theatrical Pressing and Cleaning Co., 622 Chestnut street, but they were unable to determine the cause.

Alex. H. Meier, secretary of the cleaning company, said that no chemicals or explosives of any description were kept in the shop, and representatives of the Laclede Gas Light Co. were positive in the assertion that there had been no gas leak in the building.

The interior of the clothes-cleaning shop was wrecked and many suits of clothes in various stages of renovation were blown from the building and draped along the telephone and electric light wires on Chestnut street. Windows in real estate offices, which line both sides of Chestnut street, between Sixth and Seventh, were blown into the street. Several canaries in the cleaning shop lost their lives and others flew to places of safety minus many of their feathers.

Hotel Guests Routed.

Several hundred guests in the American Hotel, across the alley from the building where the explosion occurred ran into the street and there were excited reports that possibly the giant dirigible, ZR-1, which at that time was cruising over the southeastern part of the city, might have had something to do with the explosion, which, of course, was not the case.

The building in which is the cleaning shop is known as the Gamble Building, and is owned by Mrs. David C. Gamble of 37 Portland place. Said Black, 70 years old, negro elevator conductor in the building, was asleep in the court room of Justice of the Peace Ben Murmann, which occupies the second floor, directly above the cleaning shop. He was thrown against a wall, and at the city hospital it was said several of his ribs were fractured and that he was internally injured.

Windows Broken.

A hole three feet wide and seven feet long was torn in the flooring of the cleaning shop, and the glass and wooden framework of the front of the shop was blown out. Windows were broken in the offices of the following real estate companies: Papin-Tontrup, 626 Chestnut; Frank L. Dittmeier, 624; George Kollas, 616; Walter Jones, 620; Henry Hienzen, 614; Alvin T. Dickson, 612; Noble-McCawley, 615; Christian Brinkopf, 619; Watts Co., 621; Joseph Dickmann, 623; William J. Heckmann, 627, and Stephen Gaum, 625.

No estimate of the damage was announced. A. R. Meier, secretary-treasurer of the Theatrical Pressing and Cleaning Co., said he had no idea how much damage had been done to his shop and contents. He carries insurance amounting to $1000, he told the police.

ARSENIC IN CANDY THAT MADE GIRL SICK

Box Containing Poisoned Sweets Was Sent Through Mails to Miss Ruby Bowne.

Arsenic was found in a box of candy that was turned over to the City Chemist after six young women employed in the shirt department of the Elder Manufacturing Co., Thirteenth street and Lucas avenue, who had eaten part of the candy, became ill. The box sent through the mail, was addressed to Miss Ruby B. Bowne, one of the employees of the shirt factory. City detectives began investigating the case today after City Chemist Buckland, who had analyzed the candy, reported to the police that it contained arsenic. The box was delivered at the factory Sept. 24 by a letter carrier, and was received by Miss Bowne's office and, in the absence of the factory, she was not being at work the day the candy arrived.

Two of the women who ate the candy became so ill that they were under the care of doctors until today when they returned to the factory. They are Miss Thekla Schuchert, 30 years old, and Miss Mary Yount, 24, of 1520 South Seventh street. Two others who became ill were Miss Bertha Gunther of 2655 Shennandoah avenue and Miss Luella Schuchert of 5213 North Twenty-first street.

Miss Bowne, to whom the box was addressed, who is 22 years old and resides at 762 Walton avenue, and three other girls, all of whom ate part of the candy, did not become ill.

Last Friday Miss Bowne took the remainder of the candy to the City Chemist's office and, in the absence of attaches of the office, left it on a table there with the following note: "Please mail answer if anything is wrong with candy, as several parties took sick. I would like to hear if it was the candy. Oblige, Ruby B. Bowne, 762 Walton avenue."

"I haven't the least idea who mailed me the candy," said Miss Bowne to a Post-Dispatch reporter today. "I have had no trouble of any kind with anyone. I have had no love affair, and I am on good terms with all the girls who work with me. My name was printed on the package with lead pencil, so I was unable to identify the writer. I cannot understand the affair."

The box contained fudge and marshmallows. It was the box of a candy establishment, but was not wrapped in its original covering. The box was one that had contained mixed chocolates originally but was refilled before it was mailed to Miss Bowne. Miss Bowne has been employed by the Elder company for three years.

French "Ace" Visits St. Louis Field.

Capt. Georges Thenault, French "ace" and former Commander of the Lafayette Escadrille, now acting as French aviation attaché at Washington, visited St. Louis Field today, accompanied by Robert Markham. He examined the various types of craft at the field. Capt. Thenault said he did not believe France would enter the Pulitzer Trophy Race for several years because high speed machines have not been sufficiently developed there.

Princess' Condition Still Serious.

ROME, Oct. 2.—The condition of Princess Giovanna, third daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy, continued serious today, according to advices from Raconigi. The patient passed a quiet night and the physicians saw some sign of improvement. Peritonitis has developed.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S SCHOOL PERMIT DENIED

Public Service Board Against Wooden Building—Appeal to Mayor Planned.

Permission to erect a temporary frame building at Grand boulevard and Henrietta street, to house experimental school of special instruction for crippled children, was denied today by the Board of Public Service.

The board followed the recommendation of Director of Public Safety McKelvey, who opposed granting a permit to erect the building because it did not conform to regulations for buildings within the fire zone.

The building was to have been 100 feet long and 127 feet wide, facing on Henrietta street. McKelvey explained to the board that the Board of Education had been permitted to erect the temporary frame school building, but that all of them had been 20x20 feet and at least six feet apart.

When President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service suggested that the building was to be used to house crippled children, members of the board said that fact should make them particularly careful as to the fire hazard.

It will be recalled that the Board of Education early in July voted to erect the temporary building for the instruction of crippled children and appropriated $40,000 for the building and the first year's instruction. The board was unwilling to undertake the expense of a permanent building because of the experimental nature of the work.

An appeal to the Mayor, to assist in the Board of Public Service, was not induced to reconsider its action, probably will be made within a few days, it was said at the office of the Board of Education today.

HIMMONS WEBB INQUIRY INTO DEATH OF WIFE

New York Prosecutor Requests Conference After Evidence of Mineral Poison Are Found.

Two Nurses and Physician Called

District Attorney Requests Appearance of Doctor Who Refused to Sign Death Certificate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Evidence of the presence of a corrosive mineral poison were found yesterday in the kidneys of Mrs. Charles Webb, who died a week ago today, at the Westchester-Biltmore Club, at Rye, N. Y.

Later her husband was requested by District Attorney Rowland of Westchester County to go to his office in White Plains. This request was made just after a will signed by Mrs. Webb, Aug. 31, three days before she went to Roosevelt Hospital and in which she left all property not in trust to her husband, had been filed in the Surrogate's court here.

An appeal to the Mayor, to assist in the Board of Public Service, was not induced to reconsider its action, probably will be made within a few days, it was said at the office of the Board of Education today.

Positive results were obtained in preliminary tests by Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, toxicologist for the district examiner's office here and a chemical analyst at Bellevue Hospital, who is examining the viscera of Mrs. Webb's body for traces of poison. Other tests must be completed, however, before it can be established that poison actually was the cause.

Information was given to Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, assistant medical examiner, who communicated it to District Attorney Rowland concerning the case, that he had immediately some who were with Mrs. Webb when she died.

It was pointed out that if the toxicological examination, consisting of the chemical analysis of the organs of the dead woman, should disclose the presence of poison, there might not be a sufficient quantity of it to have caused death, and that there was no evidence to show it had been administered with injurious intent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Samuel J. Heiman Sr., father of Mrs. Charles Webb, whose death at Rye last week being investigated, today filed objections to the probating of her last will, which left all her estate, estimated at $2,000,000, to her husband.

Heiman's objections were based on grounds that the will offered yesterday was not the last will of his daughter, that it was not properly executed according to law; that she lacked capacity at the time to execute it; that it was not freely executed; and that she was unduly influenced in the execution of it.

Speed at Landing Field.

Meanwhile, she had slipped out to take a peek at her landing field—about 4 a. m.—and had been spotted by Hugo Miller, member of the St. Louis Committee of the St. Louis Board. Miller instructed the radio operator to salute the ship. He got not further than a "C" greeting. "Cut it out," the radio interrupted. "We want to sleep."

The ship then made back to St. Louis and drifted back and forth between the eyes of increasing thousands who now were aroused for the day's work. At about 6:45 she headed for the city again. Arriving there she drifted about the field several times, at the height of the varying wind which had sprung up with dawn and seemed unable to determine from which direction it desired to blow.

At about 8:30, after official good-byes, the officers returned to the cabin and the raising of the ropes began. At 9:40 the ZR-1 took the air and sailed first to the west, then, on a higher altitude, due east toward the city.

The mechanics of departure was simple. There was a jangle of signal bells. The four propellers along the ship's side toward its center began to revolve slowly. The soldiers holding the forward rope released their hold at a signal from the forward control gondola. The ship nosed upward.

A fraction of a minute later the soldiers at the rear anchor rope let go and members of the ship's crew standing on the outside of the rear gondola, and clinging to rigging snatched up the rope into the car quickly. It must not interfere with the rear propeller. At the release of the aft ropes the ship rose in a

Double - faced Red Seal Records

For those who appreciate the utility and economy of the double-faced record, the Victor Company now for the first time offers Red Seal Records in that form.

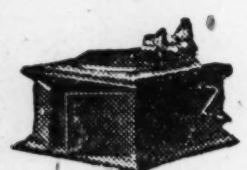

We have delayed this change because of the difficulty of making satisfactory combinations of selections and as it is clearly impossible to meet everyone's ideas in this respect, the list of single-sided Red Seal Records will be continued.

A separate Red Seal Catalog has been issued, containing new list prices for both Double and Single, a portrait of each artist, with a complete biographical sketch.

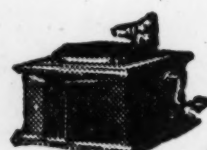

This new Red Seal Catalog is worth having. Please call on your dealer, or write to us and receive a copy. Also, hear new Victor Records on these new Victrola models. They are a marked advance in talking machine art.

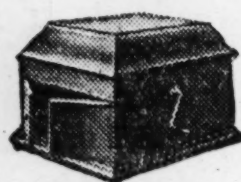

Look under the lid and on the labels for these Victor trade-marks.

WALTON CALLS SPECIAL ELECTION ON IMPEACHMENT

Oklahoma Governor Wants People to Decide Dec. 6 Whether Legislature Shall Meet to Oust Him.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Oct. 2.—Gov. Walton has issued a call for a special election on Dec. 6 next on the initiative proposal which would empower the State Legislature to convene itself to consider impeachment charges against the executive. "If the majority of the people want to amend their Constitution so as to enable Ku Klux Klan members of the Legislature to impeach their Governor and thereby remove all legal restraint on the lawlessness of the Klan, then I submit I don't want to be Governor and will advise that we acknowledge the sovereignty of the emperor of the invisible empire," Gov. Walton declared in a formal statement made public simultaneously with the call, which was issued last night.

The statement follows in part: "The pretended election tomorrow, Oct. 2, 1923, will be void and inefficient, and, being such, the House of Representatives will have no power to convene. But I notice in the morning papers that one McBee—the chief conspirator of the House—says that he and his assistant Klan members are willing to abide by the vote of the people and if the measure fails, they will not attempt to assemble, and he calls on me to likewise abide by the results. As the pretended election on initiated petition number 79, tomorrow (Tuesday) will be null and void, I refuse to recognize it or its results. Now, since McBee and his associates seem willing to acquiesce in the verdict of the people, I hereby accept the challenge, and I have this day called an election on Dec. 6, 1923, on which day the Campbell Russell amendment will be submitted as per proclamation this day issued herewith.

"If the majority of the people of this State want to amend their Constitution so as to enable Klan members of the Legislature to impeach their Governor and thereby remove all legal restraint on the lawlessness of the Klan, then I submit that I don't want to be Governor, and I will advise that we acknowledge the sovereignty of the emperor of the invisible empire and his minions. Obviously, this presents an issue of the greatest consequence to the people and should be considered by the people with the deliberation essential to the exercise of sound and dispassionate judgment."

TWO NOTES TO FAMILY FOUND IN MAN'S HAT ON EADS BRIDGE

Son of J. P. Christian Tells Police Father Had Suffered From Nervousness.

A brown felt hat, in which were two letters signed "J. P. Christian," one addressed to Mrs. J. P. Christian, 3830 Maffitt avenue, and the other to Philo G. Christian, 3550 Kennerly avenue, were found on the Eads Bridge last night. The hat was identified by Philo Christian as having belonged to his father, a machinist, and the writing on the letters he identified as that of his father.

The letter to Mrs. Christian asked for forgiveness and that to the son urged him to take care of his mother. The son said his father had been suffering from nervousness and had been unable to work for more than a week. It is believed he leaped from the bridge into the river.

BREAD GRAINS "OVERPRODUCED"

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The world is overproducing bread grains and underproducing dairy products, food grains and other animal foods, Secretary Hoover declared at the opening session today of the World's Dairy Congress.

However, due to decreasing exports and increasing domestic consumption, resulting from full employment of American workers, dairy farmers have been able to weather the storm of agricultural construction satisfactorily.

Liquor Found in Raid on Home.

Eighteen quart bottles filled with supposed home-made beer and a half-pint bottle partly filled with supposed "moonshine" whiskey, together with a quantity of equipment such as is used in making beer, were confiscated by policemen last night in a rooming house at 3337 Delmar boulevard, conducted by Mrs. Myrtle Schertz, 35 years old. Two women and three men, found in the place, were arrested. Policemen were sent to the house following a telephone message to the Laclede Avenue Police Station which stated that a man was seen to stagger from the house as a woman's voice was heard to say, "Don't do that. Don't do that."

$40,000 Damage Suit Dismissed.

A $40,000 damage suit of William Perkins, general manager of the Midland Valley Butter Co., and his wife against Assistant Prosecuting Attorneys Jones and Russell of St. Louis County was dismissed by Circuit Judge Wurdeman at Clayton yesterday for want of prosecution. The suit was brought after a liquor raid on Perkins' home at 6343 Robb avenue, Hazel Hill, under a search warrant he alleged was illegally issued. A demurrer by the defendants recently was upheld by the Court. No liquor was found in the Perkins home at the time of the raid, last January.

A Business Proposition for a Business Man

BUSINESS men know the wisdom of basing their decisions on facts. They have learned that success is the result of avoiding unnecessary experiments.

A steadily increasing number of careful business men, in making their wills, are giving preference to the corporate executor. An analysis of facts has shown them the wisdom of choosing an experienced, responsible institution to carry out the provisions of their will.

The officers of the St. Louis Union Trust Company will be glad to explain the many advantages of arranging to have this experienced institution serve as your executor and trustee.

MAIL PLANES ARRIVE TO TAKE PART IN MEET

Squadron of 16 Will Give Demonstration of Night Flying as Conducted by Postal Service.

An impressive sight at St. Louis Field yesterday was the arrival of 16 United States mail planes to participate in the air meet and whose pilots will take them up at night to give demonstrations of night flying as conducted by the Air Mail Service from New York to San Francisco. The squadron was in command of Harold T. (Slim) Lewis, and came out of the northwest in a wedge formation at 1:25 p. m. Upon reaching the field they fell into single-file formation, about 1500 feet above the field, and circled it several times.

Six Land at Field.
Then they began landing, one at a time. When six had landed flagmen of the Army Air Service ran onto the field with red flags to direct the mail pilots to the more desirable spots to land, which seemed to frighten the remaining 10 away, for they remained aloft for a little while and then set off in the direction of Scott Field, where they were later reported to have landed.

The six who landed at St. Louis Field said they had heard of the postponement of the meet on account of the wet field and that those of their group who went to Scott Field probably had believed it unsafe to land.

No Trouble Experienced.
The squadron assembled from all landing points on the transcontinental air route at Iowa City, Ia., and hopped off for St. Louis at 11 a. m. They made the flight to St. Louis in 2 hours and 25 minutes without experiencing any trouble.

Their planes are specially constructed for mail carrying in a compartment just in front of the cockpit. The yoke, biplanes, and under the lower plane on each side, near the outer edge, is an electrically operated searchlight, to aid them in landing at night or in locating towns along their route. The yoke carry red tail lights and what are commonly known as parking lamps on the upper planes.

The fuselage on these planes is of polished wood and they carry a gas supply for non-stop flights of eight to 10 hours.

NEGRO WOMAN DIES OF AUTO INJURY; INVESTIGATION ORDERED

Coroner Asks Police to Get Facts in Connection With 9th Motor Fatality.

Mrs. Viola Jarrett, about 28 years old, 2021 Chestnut street, a negro, died at her home Sunday under circumstances which caused the coroner to request a police investigation. Policemen yesterday reported that death was due to injuries suffered a week ago in an automobile accident on the Municipal Free Bridge. Mrs. Jarrett was riding in a taxicab, which collided with a touring car driven by Crowley Shockley, 1534 Vassar avenue, University City, a switchman, who has been held for the coroner.

The death of Mrs. Jarrett brings the total of automobile fatalities here this year to ninety-seven as compared with ninety-four for the corresponding period last year.

Others injured in automobile accidents yesterday were: Edward McCormack, 8, of 1543 North Eighth street and Stanley Buca, 3, of 1825 North Eighth Street, who suffered contusions and lacerations when knocked down at Ninth and Mullany streets by an automobile which had been driven on to the sidewalk to avoid striking other children playing in the street; Allen Reynolds, 5821 Manchester avenue, who suffered lacerations of the scalp when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a street car at Waterman avenue and Skinker road; Dorothy Levy, 4, 1820A Oak street, who suffered a fracture of the skull and internal injuries when knocked down in front of 1820 Oak street.

COLLEGE TO COMBAT SKEPTICISM

Louisville (Ky.) School for Preachers to Open Oct. 2.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2.—A college for the training of preachers, missionaries and church workers and founded for the avowed purpose of combatting the destructive skepticism which now operates chiefly in the name of so-called evolution, is to open in Louisville Oct. 2, according to an announcement by the Rev. Dr. Henry F. Lutz.

Opening of the school represents an attempt of certain leaders in the Disciples of Christ Church to provide a theological institution uncompromisingly committed to the Bible as "infallible and final."

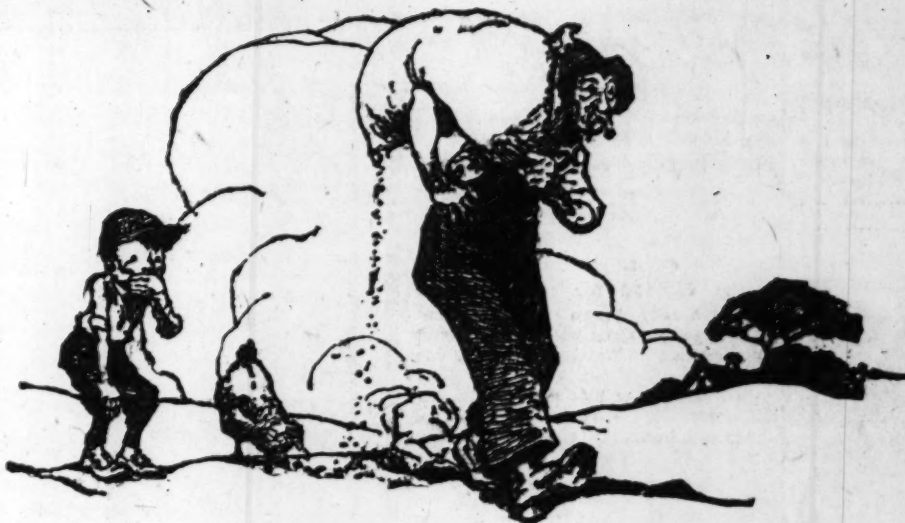

Germany's Navy Needs Officers.

BRISSEN, Sept. 12.—The need for officers to man Germany's navy and merchant fleet has grown of late, as sailing ships soon will be in operation to train young men to follow the sea. Germany always has insisted upon training under sail for the men who officer her steamships.

Air Travelers Need Passports.

VIENNA, Sept. 11.—An air traveler in Europe has to get his passport valid for every country over which he may fly, even if he does not intend to land in that country. This measure was found necessary in order to prevent a passenger, through accident or forced landing, finding himself in a strange state without the proper documentation.

"100,000 WHEAT FARMERS IN DISTRESS"

Statement by Department of Agriculture; General Improvement Elsewhere in September.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Agricultural conditions showed continued improvement in the wheat belt the department during September except in the wheat belt the department of agriculture has just announced in its monthly agricultural review.

"A significant sign is the strengthened demand for cotton and pork," the review says. "Consumption of cotton in American mills and export movement have both increased, although the South has had to scale down its expectations on the size of the new crops. The domestic and export demand for pork has absorbed a record run of holdings at better prices than were prophesied by the most optimistic earlier in the season."

"In the wheat belt the situation is different. More than a hundred thousand homes in the wheat country are in distress. Debt which have been accruing for five years are now coming due and farmers are unable to meet their obligations. This has been one of the main factors that have brought to a head the acute situation in the farming, banking and business community."

HEARING ON FEDERAL RESERVE

Reason Why Eligible Banks Do Not Join System Sought.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Inquiry into the reason actuating eligible state banks and trust companies in failing to become members of the Federal Reserve system was begun today by a joint commission of the Senate and House Banking Committees. Government officials will be heard this week, and next week representatives of bankers, farmers and business will be given opportunity to present their views.

Specifically, the commission is charged with determining whether any changes should be made in laws and regulations of the Federal Reserve Board or in methods evolved to bring about in the agricultural districts a larger membership of banks and trust companies in the system.

GREAT BRITAIN FOR LIMITING STRENGTH OF AIR ARMAMENTS

Premier Baldwin Says Government Would Gladly Co-operate With Other Nations in Matter.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The British Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin, in a brief talk to the Press here for the imperial conference, gathered here for the imperial conference, alluded to the general terms to the many problems confronting the governments, but without making definite announcement with respect to any of them. So far as the situation in Germany was concerned, this was left for Lord Curzon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, who will make a detailed statement in the course of the week. The Prime Minister, in his address yesterday, without referring to the Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr, spoke of the "honest divergence of opinion" between England and France, and reiterated Great Britain's desire to preserve good relations with that country.

Views on Air Armaments.
One decisive statement was that the British Government was willing to co-operate with other governments in limiting air armaments. In his reference to armaments he said: "It will be within your knowledge that we decided with great reluctance to add to our defensive air forces. When announcing this increase in our program to Parliament I said I should like to repeat here, that in conformity with our obligation under the covenant of the League of Nations, His Majesty's Government would gladly co-operate with the other governments in limiting the strength of air armaments on lines similar to the treaty of Washington in the case of the navy and any such arrangement, it is needless to say, would govern our policy of air expansion."

Premier Baldwin began his speech with a sketch of the history of the reparations problem. He made no allusion to the British Government's view with regard to the legality or illegality of the Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr.

Difference in Temperament.
Referring to the difference of temperaments of the French and English and different viewpoints, he said:

"The last 20 years have shown that they are not incompatible with whole-hearted co-operation in the face of grave dangers. I am aware that the patience we have shown in trying to preserve good relations with France has laid us open in many quarters to charges of indecision and weakness, but at least it has borne witness not only to our wish to act, in Disraeli's words, 'as a moderating and mediatorial power' in the councils of Europe, but to an ardent desire to preserve the friendship with France."

The Premier would not venture to predict the outcome of the new situation that had developed in Germany. Referring to the conclusion of peace with Turkey, he expressed the belief that the Lausanne treaty safeguarded all essential interests of the British empire and brought a spirit of reconciliation to this part of the world.

He then reviewed the steps in the funding of the British debt to America and said: "The repayment of this debt is going to call for all our energy, but we consider this course an essential preliminary to restoration of the normal economic life of the world. The debts of the great nations must be recognized if the foundations of commercial progress are to stand."

Arms Conference Reviewed.
Then, reviewing the results of the Washington conference, he said: "I think we may justifiably claim that these results, which are not only of real benefit but maintain promise in the future for the whole British empire, are due in no small measure, first, to the last imperial conference, which was so largely concerned in initiating the Washington meeting; and, second, to the British empire delegation, which co-operated so successfully in bringing it to fruition."

The remainder of his speech was devoted mainly to a resume of the economic difficulties facing the British empire and the world, and the impoverishment of many countries following the war. He referred especially to the unemployment in Great Britain, the promise of improvement in which had suffered a check, and expressed confidence that the economic side of the present conference would be able to devise measures of mutual advantage by way of redistributing population, improving transportation and means of communication and generally facilitating the growth of trade within the empire.

Contemplating the Europe of today, the Premier could find little for encouragement. The size of armies and the money being spent on munitions were greater than in 1914, while economic solidarity had been rent asunder.

Comment on Development.
The only consolation he could find was to recall past history and the long periods, sometimes centuries, required for recovery after prolonged wars. In a sort of philosophical comment on modern development, Baldwin said he considered that the mastery achieved over physical forces had been completely outdistanced by the control acquired over human forces.

"The fact is," he said, "that our minds learn far more quickly than our characters change, so that the social and political structure of the world has not kept pace with the growth of its knowledge."

He concluded with an eloquent peroration on the influence that his hearers, representing a commonwealth embracing one-fourth of the mankind of all races and lands, could have on the world's progress. "Like the network of steel imbedded in concrete, this Commonwealth holds more than itself together," he declared. "It holds through the greatest cataclysm that has ever shaken the foundations of the world. Dissolve those ties and civilization itself would collapse."

League of Nations Praised.
He praised the League of Nations for its moderation and intelligence in handling the Corfu crisis. He declared that without the league war would have been likely. The dominion Premier spoke briefly, Gen. Smuts of the Union of South Africa laying particular stress on the need of a complete settlement in Europe.

Many Show the Smart Tube-Like Silhouette

COATS for street, evening and general wear—Coats for every occasion. The pictures give but an idea of their styles. There are dozens of models not sketched. And the pictures cannot tell you the "feel" of their soft, comforting warmth, the velvety texture of their fabrics—the richness of their deep dark shades. The women who buy them tomorrow will have cause to congratulate themselves upon the savings they have made—and the beautiful Coats they have obtained.

Nearly Every Coat Is Richly Fur Trimmed

Shawl collars, mushroom collars, big furry cuffs and many bands adorn these Coats. Furs are natural squirrel, caracul, beaver, kit fox, Viatka squirrel, Manchurian wolf and platinum wolf. And all the skins are of selected quality—rich, warm, luxurious.

Negro Implicates Whites in Killing.

Eurwell Kemp, negro, held here in connection with the slaying of Otis Ballard at Mount Pleasant, has made a confession concerning the killing. T. C. Hutchings, County Attorney of Titus County, said in a telephone conversation to the Greenville Herald this morning. The negro implicated three white men, George McKinley and Paul Keith, held here for safe-keeping, and Clem Gray, in jail at New Boston, in the crime, according to Hutchings.

MOUNTAINS MOVING IN CALIFORNIA, SAYS GEOLOGICAL EXPERT

Andes Also Slipping, Dr. Bailey
Willis Reports—Attributes
Quakes to This Cause.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The Andes mountains are moving straight across Argentina is the information brought to Washington from South America by Dr. Bailey Willis, professor-emeritus of geology at Leeland Stanford Jr. University, sent by the Carnegie Institution of Washington to study the earthquake which rocked Chile last year.

While the Andean mountains are moving eastward the California mountains are moving northward, says Dr. Willis.

The professor declares the geological incident to this movement caused the Chilean earthquake and the recent Japanese disaster and he believes the destructive earthquake at San Francisco was due to this same general law.

Dr. Willis says the earth transformations resulting in earthquakes are likely to go on forever and the only thing to be done is to build houses that will resist the tremors. Experiments by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, he said, had proved that stations established by them in the California mountains had moved two or three feet in periods of 10 to 15 years. He holds that in the millions of years since these movements began the California mountains have slipped many miles.

In South America, he estimates the Andes may be moving over Argentina at the rate of a meter (39.37 inches) or perhaps two meters in 100 years.

ISLAND THAT GREW FROM SNAG TO BE AUCTIONED OFF

Spot in Mississippi, 25 Miles South of St. Louis, Bought by County in 1902, Now 162½ Acres.

Twin Hollow Towhead Island, which grew from a snag in the Mississippi River, is to be auctioned off by the St. Louis County Court, and there will be at least one bidder at the sale because that has been insured by the deposit of $2500 earnest money.

The island is near the St. Louis County shore, about 25 miles south of St. Louis, opposite Cliff Cave. The original snag, as tradition has it, expanded as the river took sediment and debris to it, until in 1922 a Government survey disclosed that it measured 162½ acres.

Frank Schaaf, who had obtained a squatter's claim to the island, sold it to St. Louis County in 1902 for $400, and the county, in turn, rented it for farm land at $75 a year. Under cultivation the land became more valuable, and three years ago the county gave a five-year lease on the ground to Sam Crecellus at $250 a year. The lease still has two years to run. From its investment of $400 the county has earned $2025 so far and, under the terms of the lease, would receive $500 more in the next two years. The purchaser of the island will take it subject to the leasehold. The auction will be held Dec. 1.

SAYS DESTROYERS CHANGED COURSE WITHOUT HESITATING

Commander of U. S. S. Somers Testifies He Planned to Make Check When "Settled."

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 2.—All of the vessels of destroyer squadron 11 followed the lead of the flagship Delphy when she swerved sharply eastward toward the rocks off Honda, Cal., Sept. 8, and none of them showed hesitation at the turn, according to Commander William P. Gaddis, of the U. S. S. Somers, who testified at yesterday's session of the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster in which seven ships and 23 lives were lost.

Commander Gaddis said he had not checked the change of course executed by the Delphy, and had not intended to do so until "we were settled down on the new course." Up to this point he had given radio compass bearings from Point Arguello, indicating the squadron still was to the north of the point, "due consideration," but had not placed "too much confidence" in them, he said.

When he saw ships ahead of him stop and ships astern of him coming on at full speed, he testified, he steered sharply to the right and out of squadron formation to escape collision fore and aft. A moment later he saw breakers 50 feet ahead, felt the Somers bump over the rocks and ordered full speed astern until the ship was back in deep water.

INCREASE IN FATAL ACCIDENTS

75,300 Lives Lost in 1932, 14,000 in Auto Mishaps.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Accidents in the United States during 1932 exacted a toll of approximately 75,300 lives, an increase of nearly 2000 over the estimated number for the previous year, a committee report declared today at the National Safety Congress. Although there has been a decline in the accidental death rate for 10 or 12 years, the number of fatal accidents has never been less than 70,000 each year.

The report credited the automobile with the largest entry in the annual accident mortality budget—14,000 for 1932, 18 per cent of all fatal accidents for that year. The committee estimated that during each day in 1932, 236 American citizens were killed by accident.

threatened a rift in the affairs of the organization, which has functioned for the last year as the largest aeronautic association in the country, and the American representative of the International Federation.

Howard E. Coffin of Detroit, who had stated he would not be a candidate for re-election as president, was nominated from the floor, against his objections, and elected over B. H. Mulvihill of Pittsburg, former vice president, after delegates engaged in several verbal and parliamentary skirmishes.

Coffin to Resign Presidency.
However, just as the session was dragging to a close at 3 a. m., Coffin addressed the delegates and stated he could not accept the presidency, due to pressure of personal matters. He stated his resignation would be placed before the Board of Governors at a meeting called for this afternoon, and he would ask the board to consider choosing a successor.

Meanwhile a group which threatened a "bolt" from the association met elsewhere in the hotel. It was stated, and made preliminary plans for organization of a national association of ex-air service pilots. The proposed officers were chosen, to be announced later, it was said.

Controversy over policies and association work produced the differences. Coffin did not preside at the meeting but appeared on the floor when his name was mentioned for the presidency, with a declaration that he would not accept the presidency, but suggested a choice of Mulvihill as president and himself as vice president, provided it was agreed they would have a free hand in carrying on the association work.

"Too Much Misunderstanding."
"I want to talk horse sense with you," he said, "as there has been too much misunderstanding, argument and controversy in the field of aviation during the last year." He urged harmony in the association and said officers "could not be pestered all the time by someone snapping at their heels."

A majority of the nominations brought in by the nominating committee went by the board. The committee had proposed Mulvihill and W. Frank Carter, chairman of the St. Louis Air Board, for president, but Carter's name was withdrawn.
Homer Adams of Boston, a Governor from the First Division, was proposed unanimously by the committee for vice president. Two other nominations were made from the floor and Alfred Cram of Davenport, Ia., elected
S. Dudley Outcalt of Cincinnati, for secretary, and B. F. Castle of New York for the treasurer, both were elected by the committee, both were elected.

During the parley nominations for president became numerous and the convention was resolved into a committee as a whole, for a time to iron out the situation.

Formed Last Year at Detroit.
A supporter of Coffin stated the matter had contributed nearly $130,000 from his personal funds during the last year to finance the organization, which was formed at the air meeting last year at Detroit. This covered virtually all of the expenses.

Members of the board of Governors were nominated from about 20 states and elected. They included:
Missouri, Carl H. Wolfley of St. Joseph;
Illinois, Dr. R. R. Ferguson, Chicago;
Massachusetts, Porter Adams, Boston; Connecticut, L. S. Horner, New Haven; New York, R. F. Holcomb, New York City; Porto Rico, Charles R. Harrell, San Juan; Ga., G. Chaffee; Louisiana, Allan S. Packard; Ohio, Glen L. Martin, Cleveland; Michigan, Harold L. Emmons, Detroit; Minnesota, E. F. Cram, Davenport; Iowa, R. W. Merritt; Utah, C. L. Nelson.

Five members at large were elected, including Orville Wright of Dayton, W. Frank Carter of St. Louis, Roddy L. Cahoon of Boston, W. B.

COL. DAVIS URGES 10-YEAR AIRPLANE BUILDING PROGRAM

Assistant War Secretary Tells Aero Congress Banqueters Aerial Defense Is Below Danger Point.

PHYSICAL ISOLATION NOT NOW SAFEGUARD

Plane Industry "Starving to Death," He Declares—Patrick and Moffett in Preparedness Pleas.

Financial and legislative provision for development of the aircraft industry of the United States, to place it on an equal footing with that of other nations commercially and for national defense, were urged last night by Government, military, naval and civilian speakers at the banquet of the third National Aero Congress at Hotel Statler.

Col. Dwight F. Davis of St. Louis, Assistant Secretary of War, declared the army air service had been reduced beyond the safety point for national defense and that "pitifully little" was being done to safeguard the nation in the air. Unless appropriations are increased, he asserted, the air service will be soon virtually impotent.

A 10-year program of building planes should be adopted by the Government, he said, "not as an aggressive measure or in competition with other nations, but merely to meet the deficit in planes needed for purely training and defensive purposes."

Diplomats Among Guests.
"America must wake up," he said.
"It is splendid to dream dreams of universal peace, splendid to do everything in our power to bring this about. But while dreaming dreams we must not shut our eyes to the dangers of this imperfect world. Reasonable preparedness against war by a great and peace-loving nation is its best preventive of war."

The banquet is the principal social event of the Aero Congress, held in connection with the international air races. Military attaches and diplomatic representatives of eight foreign countries were among the 400 guests, together with many of the army, navy and civilian fliers who will participate in the air races Thursday, Friday and Saturday at St. Louis Flying Field.

Among the foreign guests were Major-General H. Haraguchi, military attaché of the Japanese embassy; Wing Commander J. L. Gordon, Canadian Air Board, and Dr. S. F. Bedoya, secretary of the Peruvian embassy.

U. S. Weakness in Air.
In his plea for strengthening of the aerial defenses Davis pointed out that the physical isolation, which formerly was a safeguard to security of the country, no longer was an obstacle to invasion by a hostile nation. The modern bombing plane could make a trip from Europe to this country in 30 hours, he said, and a modern airship, similar to the ZR-1 could cross in 40 hours. He pictured the danger of a fleet carrying bombs weighing up to 14,000 pounds.

Strength of the army air service has been reduced to 915 officers and about 8600 men, he stated, and compared this with Great Britain's air service, personnel of 31,000 officers and men. "We have failed to provide even our meager force with adequate equipment for training, much less actual combat," he continued. "In 1922 we had a surplus, after the war, of 2125 planes of all types; in 1923 this surplus was 746;
in 1924, we will have a shortage of planes, needed solely for training. In 1925, unless appropriations are increased, this shortage will be 1400 planes. In other words, we are literally starving to death this vital branch of our national service."

More serious than this, he continued, "is the fact that our airplane industry also is starving to death.
Development of industry cannot be brought about overnight, as we learned to our cost during the World War, when the first American-built plane did not reach the front until 16 months after the declaration of war. At the present time, to meet requirements of a war program, the War Department would require 18 months to build the pursuit planes, 17 months for bombing planes, 17

Wreckage of Train That Fell Through Bridge Near Casper, Wyo.

THOUGH six days have elapsed since a Burlington train plunged through a weakened bridge into a flooded mountain creek between Casper and Lockett, the number of dead has not yet been determined. Some of the cars still lie embedded in the sand with the flood waters about them. This photograph shows cars in the water the day following the disaster the night before. The estimated number of victims is 25 to 40, but only half a dozen bodies have been found. Some of the cars have been washed a considerable distance down the stream.

months for attack planes, 9 months for observation and 11 months for training planes."

"Half of What Army Has."
Similar pleas for preparedness and means for continued experimentation and development, which would benefit not only the service of defense but advance commercial aerial navigation, were made by Rear-Admiral Moffett, Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy, and Major-General Mason M. Patrick, Chief of the Army Air Service.

"We have every aircraft record but one, and expect to get that," Gen. Patrick said, "and we have builders producing machines, that qualify any others built. Despite this, the Air Service is neglected, and practically no use is made commercially of aircraft."

He urged legislation to assist development and said Government aid should be extended to aircraft production. "Such restrictions," he said, designed to meet a situation such as that which has arisen in Oklahoma.

CODE CONVENTION CONVENES TODAY IN FINAL SESSION

Effort May Be Made to Provide for Calling of Special Legislative Sessions Without Summons From the Governor.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 2.—Delegates to the Constitutional Convention, which will reconvene late today to conclude its business preparatory to final adjournment, indicated that an effort would be made to incorporate in the proposed amendments to the Constitution a provision designed to meet a situation such as that which has arisen in Oklahoma.

There Gov. Walton used the mili-

The necessity for many of the changes proposed in the organic law of the State grow out of the growth of the State in the 48 years since the present Constitution was drafted.

The Committee on Submission says in its address to the people.

Would Meet Present Needs.
An excerpt from the address follows:

"The first Constitution of our State was adopted in 1820, the next in 1865 and the last in 1875. Those who framed the changes embodied in the Constitution of 1875 appreciated the value of historic precedent and attempted to adapt that document to the problems of that day. Conditions in Missouri have changed since 1875 and it has been our aim to propose such changes in that Constitution as to enable our Government to function properly in accordance with present needs.

"In 1875, the population of our State was 1,721,295. In 1920 it was 2,404,055. St. Louis has a population of 310,864. In 1920 it had 775,879.
Kansas City had a population of 32,500. In 1920 it was 324,410. The assessed value of the property of the State then was $567,988,490, now it is $4,613,901,497. The attendance in our public schools then was 169,370, now it is 736,525. The amount of money expended by the State for public schools then was $1,142,959.94.
In 1922 it was $40,499,539.31. The running expenses of the State government have increased more than twenty-fold. Changes, growth and development in farms, mines, factories, transportation, finance, social and economic conditions and education will readily suggest themselves.

17 Amendments Adopted.
There have been many efforts to amend our Constitution. In recent years by submission of amendments by the General Assembly or through the initiative. Since 1898 there have been 83 such amendments proposed, 17 of which have been adopted. The expense of such submissions has been more than $440,000 and the average cost of the adoption of each amendment has been more than $25,000. Regardless of the merits of those proposed amendments, or whether they were offered under the stress of local and temporary conditions, they had to be considered in the heat of political campaigns when other issues were claiming the attention of the voters.

"This convention was called so that if changes were to be made in the Constitution they might be submitted only after full consideration, in the light of the whole Constitution, and all related matters. This is the first opportunity for 48 years that the people of Missouri will have to pass upon amendments framed by a deliberative body chosen for that purpose by the people themselves, that the voters may now have full and fair consideration. They are to be submitted at a special election."

after a recess of two weeks, during

NATIONALISTS AIM TO END GERMAN REPUBLIC

"Black Reichswehr" Planning Restoration of Monarchy as Strength Is Increasing.

By ARNO BOSCH FLEETWOLF,
Berlin Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publishing Cos., the New York World.

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—The "Black Reichswehr," or as some call it, the "White Reichswehr," Nationalist groups, which have been recruiting their forces throughout Germany for months—are now growing so fast it is no longer possible to control them.
They aim to overthrow the Republic and while all are not united on what is next, the general tendency is toward the Germany that was.

They began to move as soon as Bavaria announced a dictatorship and military commanders took over all local power.

Their idea is to come into each garrison town in such large numbers and on such friendly terms with the regular Reichswehr that it will be impossible to shake them off.
They propose to surround Berlin and every other commanding point with a circle of revolutionary inextinguishably mixed with Reichswehr.

To succeed they must proceed rapidly, but if they have the majority sentiment with them it will be difficult to check them.

What look they will have here is difficult to foretell. The growth of anti-Republican sentiment has progressed so far, however, that in Bavaria it is only a question whether Dictator Von Kahr will put former Crown Prince Rupprecht on the throne or wait until the Ludendorff-Hitler combination influences the German and makes the putsch national instead of simply causing separation of Bavaria and with it the Rhine land.

The industrialists have been trying to come to terms with the French, but found it impossible, so have fallen back on efforts to throw political power at home so far to the right that an entirely new republicans program is inevitable. They know the yolk a separate Rhine land Republic, but hope at the worst to free the rest of Germany from further indemnity payments.

TWO OF 13 PROPOSED UNITS ALREADY OPERATE IN EAST SAYS NAVY'S FLYING CHIEF

Government Recognition and Uniform Rules Necessary to Develop Business Aviation, in Which Service's Hopes Lie, He Declares.

Plans for the creation of reserve aviation units of the Navy are described by Rear Admiral William
A. Moffett in a paper made public today by the Air Institute of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.
Rear Admiral W. E. Reynolds discussed "Peacetime Aviation in the U. S. Coast Guard," in a paper which also was made public today.
Papers given out last evening were on "Use of Aircraft in the Department of Agriculture," by Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture, and on "The U. S. Air Mail Night Flying Experiments" by Col.
Paul Henderson, second assistant Postmaster General.

Admiral Moffett, in his paper on the aviation reserve, said that the Navy, while having large reserve resources in other respects, is "on dangerous ground" when it comes to aviation.

Hope in Commercial Flying.
"Even with an adequate number of trained personnel to maintain the nucleus of a war-time organization," he said, "we have practically no class of men to call on in the event of an emergency. Aviation as an unnatural medium. Our best branch of human endeavor. Even before the most fundamental operations can be performed in the air the individual must accustom himself to being in what is ordinarily an unnatural environment. But armies of the army are accustomed to handle themselves on land; those who are taken into the navy either have already gained their sea legs in the ordinary course of their work or diversion or are readily adapted to the new environment. Our army personnel must be combined with the other necessary attributes of a pilot who serves the army or navy in time of war and we can only look to commercial aviation to supply our reserve strength."

"The navy has under way plans for the creation of reserve naval aviation units in each of the 13 naval districts in this country. In New York and Boston, these units are now in an operating form. They form a valuable addition to the aviation material in the event of war but under ideal conditions with all the funds available necessary for the creation of an extensive trained reserve under the administration of the Navy Department, we would not be in the secure position which is vital to our plans for national defense."

"Commercial aviation is the only hope of the navy to establish and maintain an adequate reserve force which would be available in time of an emergency. The trained pilots who would fly commercial planes their regular routes could be readily trained to fly naval planes in war maneuvers and, further than this,
the men who are trained in aviation in the navy would find a means of occupation in line with their training when they severed their connection with the navy."

For Government Recognition.
Admiral Moffett said that the growth of commercial aviation would afford employment for men trained in aircraft while members of the navy. For the proper development of commercial aviation, he said, Government recognition, and uniformity of laws regulating aerial commerce, are necessary.

"The mobilization of industry is the most important step looking to national security in an emergency. But, to effect mobilization of industry, the industry must be in existence.

If we were declared tomorrow,
we would be in a pitiful plight as regards numbers of effective aircraft.
There would be an immediate demand for a building program that would swamp the existing industry and would be impossible to put in effect without serious, it might well be, disastrous delay.

"The aircraft industry in this country which has managed to exist through the past few years has demonstrated that the best in aircraft design and workmanship can be produced in the United States. If reliable engines can be built in the world, they are to be found in the products of American builders—aeronautical problems present themselves for solution we need not look further than among American designers for their solution. We are in a position to lead the world in aviation, but we find ourselves bringing up the end of the procession. The chief concern of the navy is the imminent and dangerous situation as regards our reserve aviation strength and this important consideration will be ignored, as the price of national safety, unless prompt action is taken by Congress."

Aviation in the Coast Guard.
Admiral Reynolds, commandant of the Coast Guard, told of the work of "Coast Guard aircraft, mentioning the following detailed tasks:
"Locating vessels in distress at sea in waters contiguous to the coast, and carrying such assistance to them
as is practicable.
"Locating derelicts at sea within the practical cruising radius of the aircraft.
"Carrying life-saving line from shore to a vessel stranded near the beach beyond reach of line-throwing gun.
"Assisting various units of the Government to move quickly and effectively perform certain duties by carrying their representatives in aircraft to isolated points.
"Providing rapid transportation for emergency medical aid to persons at remote sections.
"Assisting fishing industries by locating schools of fish.
"Patrolling the coast for enforcement of Federal laws and co-operating in the enforcement of State and local laws.
"Assisting aircraft in distress.
"Instances of such service were given by Admiral Reynolds told of the work of the Coast Guard aircraft in Lighthouse service inspectors were carried in a few hours on trips to isolated lights and beacons which, with the usual transportation or lack of it, would have required days to complete.

Plans for a telephone line for the Government, was determined upon after a survey of the locality from the air.

Mosaic photo-maps were made of towns and areas.

Swamps and districts suspected of moonshining were flown over with deputy sheriffs as passengers and observers, and as a result, still located and destroyed.

Coast guard inspectors were carried to isolated points and an inspection completed which would have required days of ordinary transportation conditions.

Congress has authorized this work,
he said, but has not made the needed appropriation, so the aircraft used have been surplus craft loaned by the Navy.

Agricultural and Mail Services.
Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, in his paper, told of the use of airplanes in locating Texas cotton fields infested with the pink boll weevil; of the use of airplanes for posting of the air patrol in the Forest Service; of an air search (treasure not satisfactory) for the money moth in New Hampshire; and of the use of airplane photography to check on cotton and crop estimates.

Service detecting fires, also was recited.

Col. Henderson told of the establishing of a lighted airway for night flying between Chicago and Cheyenne, Wyo. He said the pilots were at first not enthusiastic over this plan, but later showed readiness to co-operate and several volunteered for the first tests. In the test made in August, he said, results were 100 per cent satisfactory. "With no forced landings, no defaults, no accidents or near-accidents."

continued a program interspersed with amusements. Members of four American Legion posts of Kansas City will be hosts to the visitors tonight.

'TARNISH' HAS HUMOR, EMOTION AND INSIGHT

Described as Most Interesting Play of Season—Ann Harding Highly Praised.

By HEYWOOD BROWN.
Dramatic Editor of the New York World.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—"Tarnish," Gilbert Emery's new play, which opened at the Belmont last night, is the most interesting entertainment of the season. Mr. Emery writes with a command of the American language that is not given to any other native playwright, not even excepting Eugene O'Neill. This is a play which reads along rapidly and sure-footedly. It has emotion, humor, and insight.

To round out a thoroughly satisfactory evening, John Cromwell has staged the piece expertly and gathered an amazingly fine cast. Indeed, this is a night on which the audience deserves no rest. Ann Harding alone is enough to keep them screaming. We believe she has been seen here before, but it can hardly be possible that she ever played so well or the commotion would have been noticeable. Here is a young player who already has learned to stand still and listen to what is going on about her and to make that listening eloquent. Indeed, she is so good an actress that it is somewhat irrelevant and impertinent to report that she also is exceedingly beautiful.

"An Inspired Leap." Then there is Tom Powers, playing with persuasive drive; gorgeous work by Marion Dixon who was so good in "The Last Warning"; and excellent performances by Paul Marston and Mildred MacLeod. "Tarnish" is in no danger of not being an excellent entertainment, but we were not sure it was going to be a really fine play until the last act. It is here that Emery escapes a pitfall by an inspired leap. He has undertaken to write a play concerning the disillusion of a young woman who wants to idealize life, a young woman to whom sin is something dry. In this, of course, he is well within his rights, but we could not have been utterly enthusiastic about the play if he had not spoken to the young woman about it before the evening was over. Somebody does and the play thereby is raised to the plane of interpreting life instead of merely representing it.

Through an ingenious and plausible set of circumstances the having second act in which the heroine, Letitia Tavis, finds the hero, Emmett Carr, in the room of a cheap woman. Only an hour before this man told Letitia that he loved her, and so she will listen to no explanations. It doesn't even matter to her that there is nothing of significance or moment in his "act." It is enough according to her standards of morality, that he was intimate with this Letitia Carr. He is tarred.

"More Dirty Than Sin." All of this was motivated convincingly, yet we were restless. The fear came to us that Mr. Emery might possibly regard the heroine's attitude as admirable and beyond criticism. Of course, we did not expect him to leap upon the stage to say, "This don't touch me! business is too high and mighty, but it isn't my fault. It just happened to be something his particular girl would have done under this particular set of circumstances."

Fortunately, the playwright has found an ally from whom moralizing does not come amiss. It is Nettie Carr, the tawdry girl herself, who turns upon the heroine and tells her that her sense of outraged virtue is actually as mean a thing as mere jealousy, and that ideals which have no basis in truth are themselves more dirty than sin.

Nettie doesn't say all that, but it is enough to clear Emery of the accusation of having created a prudishness without comprehending her prudishness.

One Actor Miscalc. To be sure, at this particular moment in the play we rather wanted the hero to give up the heroine and take the other girl, who was, in the true sense of the word, a honest woman. Still, the ending is convincing enough, since it is Miss Harding who plays the heroine.

One member of the cast seemed to be very much out of the picture. Albert Gran, as the no-account father of Letitia, insists on playing his role as if it were a low comedy role. Instead of one of the fine opportunities in the play, perhaps one of the most striking of Miss Harding's achievements of the evening was the manner in which she held up a beautiful scene in the first act by averting her eyes from the fidelity of her playing in spite of the fact that she was up against an actor who tried to make every humorous line just a little more humorous. In the last act he is much better, but he still remains a player miscalc, since he does not quite seem to understand that Emery has written a play real enough to succeed without garishness.

"Forbidden" Extends Through Two and a Half Doleful Hours. If "Forbidden" were trotted into this town to turn into a selling play, the barrier, it might be possible to convey to some extent the sort of drama which arrived last night from the pen of Sydney Rosenfeld. Mr. Rosenfeld, both in his three-act comedy and in a long curtain speech, told his audience he had attempted to depict the rising of passion in a young girl. It was with remarkable restraint that the reviewer kept from shouting: "Take off that false face, Mr. Rosenfeld! We know Ibsen's dead." It was exactly that sort of play—

A DINNER dance is to be given Christmas night by Mr. and Mrs. John Leigh Green of 12 Kingsbury place, in honor of Miss Janet Collins, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Collins, in the ballroom of Hotel Chase. The guests will include the buds of the season and their escorts.

Mr. and Mrs. Green will be hosts at an evening dance the following night, Dec. 26, at Hotel Chase, for their young daughter, Miss Sally, and their son, Jack. The school set, home for the holidays, will make up the guest list. Miss Sally attends a preparatory school near Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Mrs. Green recently returned from Los Angeles, where she was called in August from Hyannisport, Mass., because of the illness of her mother.

Plans have been announced for the wedding of Miss Isabelle Ann Palms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Louis Palms of Detroit, and granddaughter of the late Julius S. Walsh of St. Louis, and Harold Buckley, to take place Oct. 20. The ceremony is to be performed at 1 o'clock in the morning at St. Paul's Church, Grosse Pointe, a suburb of Detroit, where the Palms' home is situated. Rev. Father Alonzo P. Nacey will officiate and guests will be limited to the families and close friends of the bride and groom. A wedding breakfast will follow at the home of Miss Palms' aunt, Mrs. A. Ingersoll Lewis.

The attendants will be Mrs. Wilfred V. Casgrain, a sister of the bride, matron of honor; another sister, Miss Dorothy Palms, maid of honor; her cousins, Miss Elizabeth and Annette Lewis of Detroit, and Josephine and Ellen Bates of St. Louis, as bridesmaids, and another cousin, Frederick Stanley, as flower girl. Wilfred V. Casgrain will be Mr. Buckley's best man, and Charles L. Palms Jr., brother of the bride, and J. Morlan Hayes, with six out-of-town men, groomsmen.

Mrs. John H. Douglass of 16 Vandeventer place is the guest of Mrs. Frederick R. Hatterley in New York. Mrs. Douglass went East to enter her young daughter, Miss Elizabeth, in the Western School for the fall term. Mrs. Hatterley and Mrs. Josephine Salorne Scullin of 5581 Clemens avenue recently returned from Europe.

Mrs. Florence P. Allison of 5024 Washington boulevard and her daughter, Miss Florence, have just gone to Italy after spending the summer in Paris. They will remain abroad another month.

Judge and Mrs. Henry S. Priest of 4320 Westminster place have landed in New York from a summer trip to Europe.

Miss Elinor Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Maxwell of 5922 Clemens avenue, returned last night from Europe.

which she wishes are given to her. There is little fun in the show, except the antics of Mitz, and the music is engaging only when she sings. One exception might be made. Miss Jeanette MacDonald dances neatly and sings a few songs surprisingly well.

As for the little star herself, she was never more charming.

an Ibsen theme Mack Sennett. If Rosenfeld thinks the tragic development of a child into a woman is subject for comedy and spotted with farce—his sense of humor should have gone to the extreme of placing his cast in conformity with this humorless, smutty story, embroiled to avoid police regulations and extended through two and one-half doleful, dragging hours.

The author has assumed that the trappings of passion in a young girl manifest themselves as:

1. Running away from school.

2. Picking up a strange youth of 20.

3. Taking him to a birth control meeting.

4. Going with him to his home under the proper chaperone of his sister and her husband.

5. Doing all this in one night and in the next 36 hours, meeting a Freudian specialist who understands her "soul" falling in love with him, and

6. Marrying him to maintain the traditional integrity of the American stage heroine.

Surely, passion in a young girl assumes no special uniformity in its manifestations, and there is no quarrel with the cavortings of Rosenfeld's heroine. But it might be pointed out that human beings produce circumstances which in turn reproduce those human beings created. There is no playwright to guide us without a happy curtain. The acting was not particularly good.

Mitz Makes "The Magic King" Seem a realizable girl.

Again this year it falls to the lot of the cherubic little Hungarian singing comedian, Mitz, to make a distinctly ordinary musical comedy seem worth while. She shoulders the burden excellently well. She is a realizable girl.

Henry W. Savage, who traits very little over the presentation of new or novel scenic effects or furnishings, and again quite as little over the engaging of worthy supporting cast, has a confidence in the tiny star's ability to put over the show which is really remarkable. They say that on tour a Mitz music play means packed houses from Maine to California.

The title of the new piece at the Liberty is "The Magic King." Strange as it may seem, the plot revolves around a magic ring. Mitz, a street urchin, comes into possession of the magic ring, and lo! all things for

BALLARD RUGS ON DISPLAY IN NEW YORK

St. Louisan 16 Years in Collecting Oriental Exhibits—Travelled 300,000 Miles.

By HENRY RYRELL.
Art Editor of the New York World.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—It was the gorgeous East that set the stage at the Metropolitan Museum for a private view inaugurating a three months' public exhibition of the 129 oriental rugs presented by James F. Ballard of St. Louis.

Glowing, mystic picture-poems in symbol and Trian dyes, woven of lamb's wool and silk and silver on a seventeenth century Turkish loom of Asia Minor; rich and double-nitched prayer rugs of Ghiorde; Koulas and Beluchistan; rhythmic forms of bird and dragon, of cloud and star and flower; texts of Jewish wisdom from the Koran, rose-leaf lyric lines from the Persian poets; intricate palmate-figured Indian carpets of Kashmir and the Moorish Arabesques of old Spain—they are all here, filling the large gallery of special exhibitions on the second floor of the museum, over the Fifth Avenue entrance.

Characteristics of Exhibits. It is apparent at a glance that the Turkish carpets, which predominate, are characterized in general by boldness of pattern and solidity of color rather than by the subtle refinement of design which distinguishes the classic Persian weaves. Number 1 is a great dreamy, star-centered Persian fabric, nearly 20 feet square, but exquisite as a painted miniature interpreting a stanza of Omar Khayyam. The sixteenth and seventeenth-century rugs of Asia Minor, and Chinese "cloud bands," or clouds and triple moon, have a vaguely familiar look, because one often sees them introduced as accessories in European paintings of the old masters, such as Titoretto, or Vermeer, or Delux.

No. 35, with which Ballard escaped from the capture and destruction of Smyrna, is one of the rare "bird" rugs of Ushak, covered over with repeated rhomboidal motifs in a white ground. There are somber Transoxianian carpets bordered with ivory and gold; and all sorts of Turkoman floor rugs, saddle bags, camel collars, tent bags, portieres and borders.

Beautiful Danassac floral carpets burnished with color schemes of cherry red set to green, yellow and light blue. The two or three long, narrow Spanish (Arab) carpets are fascinating curios, and include in their class some of the oldest known existing pine-knotted fabrics of any land.

16 Years in Collecting Them. Balls for 16 years has been collecting rugs. He has traveled 300,000 miles over land and sea to get together the 400 rare examples he now possesses—or did possess, until he asked the director to select from them for the Metropolitan Museum. The most enthusiastic Ballard is about his rug collection, the more eager he is to share his enjoyment of it with others. He is always lending them out for exhibition—a bunch of nearly 100 have just been sent to the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh. Two years ago a special loan exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum comprised about half of the 129 choice rugs which subsequently he has presented for keeps.

Combined with the Ballard gift, the Oriental rugs already owned by

CATHOLIC WOMEN PLAN PERIOD OF PRAYER FOR WORLD PEACE

Novena for Purpose Throughout Country to Begin Oct. 24 and Extend to Nov. 1.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Prayers during the period extending from Oct. 24 to Nov. 1 for world peace will be promoted over the country by the National Council of Catholic Women, under plans announced at the organization's annual convention here. Mrs. Michael Gavin of New York, president of the council, announced the Bishops of the National Catholic Welfare Council had commissioned the women to promote a novena prayer, and that steps to carry out the plan already had been taken.

The Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Bishop of Cleveland, spiritual director of the Cleveland diocese, appealed to the delegates to work to make the prayer a success. Bishop Schrembs arraigned "birth-control propaganda" and urged the council to combat it. He declared the Government was spending millions to enforce the prohibition law, "which everybody in his own heart knows is nonenforceable."

"And I notice," he added, "that men high in governmental positions who are saying they have got to enforce this law are breaking it before they say it or immediately after."

CALL FOR ATLANTA MINISTER

The Rev. Dr. Henry Alford Porter of Atlanta, Ga., has been recommended to be called to the Third Baptist Church, Grand boulevard and Washington avenue. The recommendation will be voted on by the congregation next Sunday. The action of the board of deacons in presenting the name of the Rev. Dr. Porter was unanimous and the announcement was well received by the members of the congregation.

The policy of the church, it was announced, will continue to be evangelistic, educational and missionary. It was on this basis that the Rev. Dr. Porter was selected. He is 52 years old and the son of a Baptist minister. He was educated at the Uni-

MAH-JONGG RULED TO BE FAIR GAME

Decision Holds Chinese Domino Playing Is Based on Skill, Not Luck.

By the Associated Press.
MANILA, Sept. 19.—Mah-jongg, the great Chinese game of dominoes, is not a game of chance. A competent court of the land has ruled thus, and it is so ordered.

The above decision was rendered in a case against Tio Tong, Lee Loy, So Chee and Kuong Chang, all Chinese, arrested on the charge of gambling. The case came before Judge Manuel V. Moran, who based his decision on the case of the United States vs. Long-sin. In his decision, however, Judge Moran regrets the fact local authorities have not approved any measure regulating the game, as he believes that Mah-jongg is a game in which fortunes may be won and lost.

Judge Moran makes a lengthy analysis of the game in which he says that while the element of luck plays an important part in the winning of the hand, the game in itself is one of ability rather than luck. He concludes that the element of luck is limited, and as the game advances this element is more and more reduced by the proficiency of the player.

OPENS BUSINESS AS RETRIEVER

Fortune Said to Be Lost in Missing Silverware in California.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 2.—A fortune is lost every year in the knives, forks and spoons which accidentally go into garbage cans in Los Angeles, according to a number of cafe and restaurant owners, who are the principal sufferers.

One restaurant reported a loss of nearly $40,000 in silverware last year. Some of this was carried away by patrons, but most of it was sent to the hog farms near here by way of the garbage can.

Private families are not so heedless of their silverware, it is said, but public eating houses suffer heavy losses because of the carelessness of employees.

A man has entered the business of recovering the lost silverware from the family and knives, forks and spoons, bearing the names of the cafes owning them are returned at a small cost.

FEWER PENSIONS, LARGER COST

Expenditures Increased Last Year While Number on List Was Reduced.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The Federal pension list decreased by 7289 names during the fiscal year which ended June 30 last, the Pension Bureau announced today, but expenditures increased $3,205,000.

Pensions to Civil War veterans decreased from 193,881 in the previous fiscal year to 168,823, while the number of widows of Civil War veterans drawing pensions was reduced in the same period by 7614. Pensioners of the Spanish-American War increased 22,438 and widow pensioners increased 2363. There are still 49 soldiers of the Mexican War drawing pensions from the Government and 40 widows of veterans of the War of 1812.

'RAILWAY COACH SAFEST PLACE'

Declaration of Speaker Before Safety Congress.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, Oct. 3.—The railroad coach and the Pullman car are declared to be the safest places in America by Dr. E. George Payne, professor of educational sociology, New York University, before the Educational Section of the National Safety Congress in session here.

"No greater achievement has been made in welfare work than that made by the railroads in handling the accident situation," Dr. Payne says. "They have made railroad operation so safe that a person actually is in less danger riding on the modern railroad than he is walking in the streets."

Funeral of Christ Buesse.

The funeral of Christ Buesse, 94 years old, believed to have been the oldest resident of East St. Louis, who died Sunday night at his home, 1204 Caty avenue, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow from St. Peter's Lutheran Church to St. Peter's Cemetery. Buesse, a retired grocer and a director of the Southern Illinois National Bank, died of the infirmities of age after an illness of 18 months. His wife died last February. They had been married 56 years. Buesse came to East St. Louis 74 years ago from Germany, his birthplace.

'Wolf of Wall Street' in Mexico.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—David Lamar, known as "The Wolf of Wall Street," has been located by Department of Justice agents in Mexico. He disappeared a year or so ago after being sentenced in New York in connection with a stock market transaction. President Obregon issued an order for Lamar's deportation as an undesirable, according to Department of Justice officials. Lamar is now at Toluca, fighting deportation.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR FLEET SALE

New York Interests Making Inquiry of Shipping Board.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A new inquiry from New York shipping interests looking to the purchase of at least part of the Government's passenger fleet was reported to the Shipping Board at its regular weekly meeting today. Active negotiations are in progress, although they have not reached the point where terms have been submitted.

The Harriman lines are understood to be either the initiators or the supporters of the new proposal, which involves the ships now operated by the United States lines. Specifically, the Leviathan, George Washington, America, Republic and President Harding are mentioned as the tonnage being sought.

Price for Debating at Missouri U.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 2.—University of Missouri student members of the M. S. U. Debating Society have subscribed funds for the purchase of a loving cup for a prize in interschool debating at the university. The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest among the various societies and create a healthy competition in this growing branch of university student activity.

School Short $9000; Woman Held.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Ida W. McCormick, formerly treasurer of the McCormick Medical College, of which her husband, Dr. C. B. McCormick, is the president, is under arrest in Los Angeles in connection with the disappearance of $9000 of the funds of the school, the local detective bureau was notified yesterday.

$10 Fine for Kicking a Horse.

The Humane Society has begun prosecutions for driving lame, or emaciated horses through the streets. A driver was fined $10 in police court last week for kicking a horse.

RIFT DEVELOPS IN THE NATIONAL AERONAUTIC BODY

MacCracken of Chicago and Elmer G. Sperry of New York.

Supporters of Minneapolis and Dayton, the two cities seeking the 1934 air races, addressed the convention, but the matter was referred to the Contest Committee, which designates the place for the meet after consulting with Army and Navy officials.

Aircraft Limitations Opposed.

Several resolutions were approved, including one recommending passage by Congress of bills authorizing a Bureau of Civil Air Navigation, to be a part of the Department of Commerce, and authorizing the Post Office Department to award contracts to private contractors for air mail service. Another opposed the aircraft limitation suggestion made by members of the American Legion.

Efforts by cities throughout the country to establish convenient and adequate landing fields for aircraft were recommended.

Another proposal urges negotiation by the United States of a treaty with Canada and Mexico authorizing and regulating flights between the countries.

Modern business has evolved one practical way of cutting down shipping-room costs—to wrap every package in a standardized wrapping paper.

By this is meant a paper that comes in the various weights best suited to each kind of business, but always in one color and one grade—and always testing one point of strength to each pound of weight.

Twelve years ago, when cost-experts demonstrated the necessity for so standardizing wrapping paper on a uniform basis, almost everybody insisted that it "couldn't be done."

Ten years ago, Mosinee did it.

Today, as ten years ago, Mosinee stands forth as the one and only standardized, uniform Wrapping Paper on the market.

The Mills of Mosinee guarantee every sheet of their product—that it will not overrun its basis weight and that it will test one full point of strength to every pound of weight.

Wrapping paper is still bought by the pound. But it is used by the yard.

That is the secret of Mosinee's economy—more yards per pound, less cost per yard.

Wabash Air Meet Service.
The Wabash special train service, announced for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, to be operated between St. Louis and Anglum, and which was canceled when the air races were postponed, will be operated Thursday, Friday and Saturday on the same schedule as originally announced, trains leaving Union Station 9:30 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and 12:01 p. m. Returning trains will leave Anglum at 4 p. m., 4:30 p. m. and 6 p. m., or as near that time as possible.

FLORAL COVER FOR WALDBART CASKET COST ESTATE $1900

Flower Bill, $2250—Most of Undertaker's $3697 Bill Was for the Coffin.

Flowers for the funeral of George Waldbart, a florist, cost his estate $2250, it was shown in a settlement made today when executors temporarily surrendered his estate to former Circuit Clerk Nat Goldstein, who is to administer the property pending a will contest. One floral piece, consisting of a casket spread covered with rare orchids, cost $1900. It was ordered in fulfillment of a wish said to have been expressed by Waldbart several weeks before his death last March.

Another floral piece, made of smilax, cost $150. Other smaller pieces completed the bill, rendered by a floral firm which bought Waldbart's business several years ago. An undertaker's bill of $3697.90 also was paid by the executors after it had been allowed by the Court. Most of this was for a casket turned over to Goldstein is appraised by the executors at $299,905.71. They disbursed $13,307.55 in payment of bills and other incidentals. Five disinherited nieces and nephews seek to set aside the will of Waldbart, who was a bachelor.

EDWIN GOULD AGAIN HEADS BOARD OF THE COTTON BELT

Daniel Upthegrove of St. Louis Re-elected President—H. B. Wallace of This City Made Director. Edwin Gould of New York today was re-elected chairman of the board of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Co. (Cotton Belt System) and Daniel Upthegrove of St. Louis was re-elected president at the annual meeting of the company here today. All other officers were re-elected, these being Dave H. Morris, New York; Nelson B. Burr, New York; and F. W. Green, St. Louis, vice president; Paul J. Longun, New York, secretary; Charles Messick, New York, treasurer and assistant secretary, and Frank Miller Gould, son of Edwin Gould, assistant secretary.

Harry B. Wallace of St. Louis was added to the board of directors to fill a vacancy. The other directors all re-elected, are Daniel H. Taylor, Winslow S. Pierce, Franklin Q. Brown, the two Goulds and Morris of New York, and Upthegrove and Green of St. Louis.

Chairman Gould declared he was gratified with the increased volume of business and improved conditions and predicted continued good business. Yesterday Gould visited the St. Louis Children's Hospital and the Railroad Y. M. C. A., the latter a gift from his sister, Mrs. Helen Miller Gould Shepard, in memory of her father, the late Jay Gould. All directors and officers were here for the meeting. Gould and several of the others will make a week's inspection trip.

WRECK FRAGMENT CARRIED FAR

Washed Up by River 35 Miles From Scene of Railroad Disaster.

CASPER, Wyo., Oct. 2.—A piece of one side of the demolished smoking car of the Burlington train wrecked at Lockett, Wyo., last Thursday night, was found today at the fair grounds at Douglas, Wyo., where it had been washed up by the Platte River more than 35 miles below the wreck. Railroad men believe many of the bodies of victims of the wreck also have been washed down stream. The rest of the smoker, in which the largest number of wreck victims were trapped, is buried in sand beneath a baggage car.

NEW LIGHT ON POISON CASE

Woman Prisoner Says Man Mixed Poison.

By the Associated Press. ELKHORN, Wis., Oct. 2.—Charges by Mrs. Myrtle Schaudt of White Water that a man had mixed poison with which she is alleged to have killed her husband and that the same man was implicated in her recent alleged attempt to slay her four children by poison candy, today threw new light on the case. Mrs. Schaudt is alleged to have made the statement involving another man to Sheriff Wylie in the Walworth County Jail, where she is held charged with attempting to poison her 13-year-old son, Delbert.

Runaway Scott Field Blimp in Georgia.

WOODSTOCK, Ga., Oct. 2.—The AO-1, runaway United States Army blimp, from Scott Field, Ill., is being guarded by a detachment of soldiers near here today, pending receipt of instructions as to the disposition of the balloon. It probably will be sent back to Illinois at once. The balloon fell here yesterday morning. No one was on board.

WABASH

"For those who wish to lead the hygienic life, coffee and tea are not recommended, except for purely medicinal purposes. . . The only hygienic excuse for such drugs is in emergencies when work must be done and natural aids cannot for some reason be employed, but always the cost must be counted and the danger considered of forming a habit of denying the brain, nervous system or muscles the rest which is their due."
—From a "Keep Well" Leaflet on "Over-stimulation," Issued by the Life Extension Institute.

Why not avoid "counting the cost?"

REST is better than a whipping, for tired nerves and muscles—better for today and infinitely better for tomorrow when the penalties of over-driving are likely to come due in headaches, nervousness, and increased difficulty of resting.

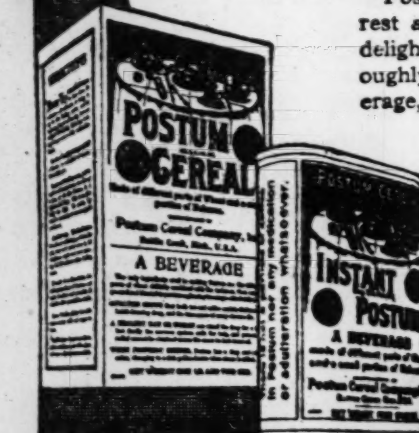

Postum is a good friend of rest and health. Postum is a delightful, comforting and thoroughly satisfying mealtime beverage, splendid in flavor and aroma—but containing no drug which can excite nerves or disturb digestion.

If you are whipping up nerves with coffee or tea, try a change to Postum. It will supply all the comfort and pleasure of a hot mealtime drink, and it will let you get the natural sleep and rest that puts strength and zest into tired mind, nerves and muscles. You'll be counting profits instead of costs.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

When You Comb Your Hair
How Much Plutonium?

If your hair is thin and scraggly it means more combing; it means a less attractive appearance; it means that it is time to use Newbro's Plutonium. The action of Plutonium in such cases is truly wonderful. Begin its use today.

Stabbed by Neuritis

Many people suffer attacks by this arch-fiend, commonly called "nerve inflammation." The first warning is usually a sharp stinging pain, which may "come and go" or hurt constantly. You may feel it in the shoulder, neck, forearm, wrist, or in the back, or down the thigh and leg to the heel. It is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism, rheumatic or neuralgia, which troubles often do not so readily where you have nerve pain or what caused them, you can get quick relief without using narcotics or poisons. Only Plutonium over the part that hurts, and within a few minutes the pain should be gone.

Plutonium is absorbed through the pores of the skin. It has a soothing healing effect upon the diseased nerve, gradually helping to restore them to healthy condition.

Don't suffer any longer. Obtain a supply of Plutonium from any good drug store—50c.

"I HAVE yet to find a Standard Oil service station attendant who fails to reflect the ideals of service set forth in Standard Oil Company (Indiana) advertising."

Such was the comment of an observant man who had been expressing his opinion of service in industry.

It is but a composite of the general feeling among patrons of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The spirit of service is highly developed in every employe of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), whether he wears overalls or occupies a place on the directorate.

Every man and woman of the 27,000 employes making up the personnel of this Company is obsessed with but one ambition—to do his or her part in making the Company greater in size and in service.

Such a condition cannot prevail under the lash. If it is to endure the desire to serve must be inherent in the individual.

It is a natural development that follows fair dealing, camaraderie, pleasant working conditions, just treatment, skillful management—in short, intensive organization modernized to the last degree.

That the employe in overalls should reflect the Company's ideals of service is the result of highly intensified organization.

It is eloquent of the spirit prevailing throughout the organization—of the complete understanding of purpose, between the executives and those who are on the firing line making the last turn in the great cycle of Standard Oil service.

Where complete understanding exists there are no obstacles too difficult to overcome.

Complete understanding between the management and the employe has made the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) big in size and big in service.

Complete understanding between the Company and the thirty million people of the Middle West has caused the list of shareholders in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to increase in four years' time from 4,600 to 42,706—not one of whom owns as much as 6% of the total.

PICTURES OF 7 STATE AUDITORS OF 19TH CENTURY ARE WANTED

George E. Hackmann, Incumbent, Wants Them to Have Reproductions Made.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 1.—George E. Hackmann, State Auditor, is searching for the photographs of seven former State Auditors of Missouri—all of whom held office in the Nineteenth Century—and being unable to find any trace of them, is appealing to the public to aid him.

Auditor Hackmann desires to borrow the pictures for the purpose of having photographic reproductions made to hang in the State Auditor's office. Immediately after the reproductions are made the original pictures will be returned to their owners, the Auditor said.

It has been customary to hang a picture of each of the elective State officers who have held office in Missouri in each of the various executive offices they occupied. The State Auditor is completing this collection of portraits of State Auditors.

The Auditors whose pictures he is seeking follow: William V. Rector, St. Louis, appointed Auditor, December, 1820, resigned December, 1821; Elias Baneroff, St. Louis, appointed Auditor, November, 1833; Henry Shields, Washington County, appointed Auditor, 1833; Peter C. Glover, Callaway County, appointed Auditor, March, 1835; William Monroe, Morgan County, appointed Auditor, February, 1845, resigned December, 1845; Abraham Fulkerson, Cole County, appointed Auditor, April, 1848; William H. Buffington, Cole County, Auditor, 1852.

DORRIS STOCKHOLDERS WILL DISCUSS REFINANCING FRIDAY

No Indication of Desire to Discontinue Business of Auto Factory, It Is Declared.

Refinancing of the Dorris Motor Car Co. and adjustment of its manufacturing policy will be suggested to stockholders Friday at a special meeting at the company's office, 4100 Laclede avenue. Persons interested in developing plans for more efficient operation of the company said today there was no indication of a desire to discontinue the business.

"The Dorris company has a large overhead expense," said one of the stockholders who is advocating a change in policy. "The factory at Laclede avenue and Sarah street is capable of producing a considerably larger number of automobiles and trucks than can be sold. That means that a lot of space and equipment is being wasted and is daily increasing the cost of operation. We shall try to find some means of absorbing this overhead expense. It may be that some refinancing plan will be adopted."

It will be recalled that a recently proposed consolidation of the Dorris company with the Winton company of Cleveland and the Haynes Automobile Co. of Kokomo, Ind., failed because there was no sale in Eastern financial circles for securities of the combined companies.

Court Frees Man in Will Case.
By the Associated Press.
LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 2.—James B. O'Conner, Kansas City attorney, will not have to serve a term in the Nebraska State Penitentiary imposed upon him for alleged forgery of a will purporting to be that of the late John O'Conner, Hastings, Neb., naming the former as heir. The Nebraska Supreme Court yesterday set aside the Kansas City man's conviction and ordered the discharge of the defendant. The high court's order states that the evidence was of a circumstantial nature and insufficient to prove O'Conner's guilt.

Reports $700 Burglary From Store.
Burglars in the dry goods store of Joseph Wahby, 1033 Chouteau avenue, last night took a box containing $700 and checks aggregating $200 from its hiding place, Wahby reported. A rear window was broken.

Search Made for Frank E. Vierling.
The police have been asked to search for Frank E. Vierling, 32 years old, of 1833 South Fourteenth street, who has been missing from his home since Sept. 19. He recently suffered a nervous breakdown and his relatives fear he is ill. He is 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighs 125 pounds. He wore a blue suit and black cap.

Horse and Rig Stolen.
A thief at the home of Fred Reeb in Belleville yesterday stole a horse from the barn, harnessed the animal, hitched it to a runabout and drove away. When Reeb discovered the theft on going to feed the horse the thief probably had several hours start. This is the first horse theft in Belleville in more than 10 years.

SOME FRENCH SHIPS DANGEROUS

PARIS, Sept. 13.—French freighters of a certain type have earned such a bad reputation among seafaring men that sailors are refusing to go to sea on them, while naval draughtsmen declare they should be taken out of service altogether.

Twelve such vessels were built by the Government during the war. Their holds are clear, with no bulkheads, which permits the sudden shifting of cargo, and their water ballast tanks have a trick of filling unexpectedly.

Five of these ships have turned over. The last was the Emile Durand, which rolled over without warning and drowned 19 members of the crew.

Nevertheless, some sailors will take a chance, so several of the craft are still at sea.

PROFESSIONAL "SITTING IN LINE" FOR SUPPLIES NOW REGULAR CALLING IN BERLIN

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 2.

"SITTING IN LINE" has become a profitable calling in Germany since the shortage of butter and other food products became so acute.

The professional holders of places in good queues no longer stand until they fall from exhaustion. They take their chairs with them and sit comfortably knitting, reading or chatting with acquaintances.

It has become so difficult to get many supplies that servants cannot do any other work if they do the marketing. Consequently professional sitters have entered the field. Every apartment house has its list of sitters who may be retained by the hour and labor bureaus can supply them.

STILLS, PERFUMES AND AUTO TIRE TUBES FOUND IN HOUSE

Eight Persons Arrested in Police Raid on South Third Street.

Detectives are attempting to identify automobile tire inner tubes, perfumes, safety razors, massage cream, hair tonic, etc., all valued at about $1000, confiscated in a saloon and rooming house on South Third street last night. Two copper stills, two gallons of so-called whiskey and 119 gallons of home-made beer also were found in the place. Eight persons are held.

The raid followed the arrest of three men in an automobile at Broadway and Rutgers street when detectives found four new inner tubes in the machine. The occupants of the car said they had obtained them at the saloon on South Third street. Five men were arrested at the saloon and rooming house when 240 new inner tubes and the perfumes, etc., were found there.

BURNING VESSEL ABANDONED, MESSAGE BY RADIO INDICATES

Believed to Have Been Reached About 1125 Miles South of San Pedro, Cal.

By the Associated Press.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Oct. 2.—The burning freighter Diana Dollar, from Genoa to San Pedro, probably has been abandoned and beached in Bandera Bay, 1125 miles south of San Pedro, according to word received here by the Radio Corporation of America.

At 1:20 a. m. the vessel reported a violent explosion occurred, when the hatch covers were lifted, to pump water into hold No. 6, where a fire was discovered yesterday. Flames spread rapidly through the ship, the message said, and the order to stand by to abandon ship was given by Capt. Anderson. Lifeboats had been lowered, the message stated.

DECISION FOR WOMAN IN SUIT

Circuit Judge Hartmann yesterday decided that Mrs. Mary Mason Quigley was the common law wife of William J. Quigley, a saloon keeper, who died Sept. 27, 1931.

The decision recites that a marriage agreement was entered into between the couple on Oct. 14, 1929, but as this was four months after Quigley had conveyed realty at 3440 Folsom avenue to Mrs. Mary Noonan, a sister, his widow has no interest in that property. However, she is entitled to a one-third interest in his other estate, valued at $7000, including five barrels of bonded whiskey.

Mrs. Quigley lives at the Folsom avenue address. Her claim was disputed by Mrs. Noonan and three of Quigley's children by a former marriage.

BANKER WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Walter Grundy of Hutchinson, Kan., Returns to Face Charges.

By the Associated Press.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Oct. 2.—Walter Grundy, former president of the Fourth State Bank, has returned here, fulfilling his promise to friends. He was locked in the Reno County Jail last night, following his surrender to Sheriff Jesse Langford. His bond was fixed at $12,000.

Walter Jones, Mayor of Hutchinson and attorney for Grundy, said his client would plead guilty to a charge of embezzlement. The bank's alleged shortage was approximately a quarter of a million dollars.

MAN'S BACK BROKEN TWO YEARS

John Malcarne, 50 years old, who is a patient in the St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville, has lived two years with a broken back. He suffered the injury in the Suburban mine, when he was caught under a fall of coal. Malcarne had been in the Marion Lee Hospital in St. Louis for an operation and yesterday he was taken to Belleville in an ambulance.

It is stated at the Belleville hospital that the man's chances for recovery are small.

Seek to Collect on Katz Barges.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 2.—State Commissioner of Finance Millsap departed last night for New York to endeavor to collect $70,000 in insurance held by the Globe and Rutgers Fire Insurance Co., on barges owned by Meyer Katz, which were sunk. Millsap is trying to collect this insurance for the Night and Day Bank of St. Louis to cover money loaned by it to Katz. Suits to collect this money are pending in Missouri courts, but Millsap believes that he can make more satisfactory settlement with the insurance official direct.

MONS MONOLITH TO BE SENT

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 12.—A monolith of Solignac stone containing Belgian earth taken from the site of the monument to native heroes in the great war, will be the contribution of Hainaut Province to the tri-centenary celebrations of the founding of New York, which has been tentatively set for 1928. This was announced at Mons, following a meeting of the Provincial Council of Hainaut, at which the necessary credits were voted.

In a cavity of the monolith will rest an iron box, containing the same soil. A parchment telling of the decision of the council and chronicling Hainaut's war record will be included. A special delegation of Americans will bring the relic from Mons to New York.

STOCK TONE ON STOCK EXCHANGE; RALS PROMINENT

Short Covering a Factor—Bonds Are Firm—Exchange Market Comparatively Quiet—Cotton Irregular.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:
"Steadiness was the general rule among the markets today, although each seemed disposed to follow its own inclinations rather than to give heed to happenings in neighboring departments. Stocks remained quiet, with short covering producing good advances in a number of the issues which have been under pressure recently. The bond market was comparatively quiet, with the signs of overcrowding on the short side. In any event, the list closed moderately higher with a few falls making new highs for the year. Bonds were firm and the rate on call money, after opening at 5 1/2 per cent, was reduced to 5 per cent during the hour, thus reflecting the passage of the first of the month's demand for funds."

"A further diminution of activity left the foreign exchange market comparatively quiet, thus emphasizing the discount which is placed on the reports of disturbances in Germany. Little change in values occurred at London, as moderate volume of buying on this side of the water found offerings small and resulted in a fair sized recovery. French francs gained 4 1/2 points at 6.00 cents and Italian lire were up 3 points at 4.51 cents. Sterling kept pace with the continentals, making an advance of 3/8 of a cent, to 84 1/2 cents."

"An excited cotton market resulted from the Government's signing and crop reports. The former, which was made public at 10 o'clock, showed a total of 3,215,000 bales gained to Sept. 25, a figure which was nearly 600,000 bales smaller than had been anticipated. Traders judged from this that the crop estimate, which was due at 11 o'clock, would be extremely bullish. On this basis, extreme bidding carried the principal futures up from 30 to 100 points. When the crop estimate was published, however, it disclosed a reduction of 49.5 per cent and an expected yield of 11,015,000 bales. This was very close to what was expected during recent days, but above what 600,000 bales above traders' ideas based on the spinning report. An excited market to result from the report on the early bulge followed and declines of from 150 to 185 points occurred. A subsequent rally made good much of the loss and by the time the December future was up only 36 points on the day at a late price of 28.02 cents.
"Wheat and corn both gained about one cent in the early trading, but then gave way before profit taking. At a late price of 1.05 1/2 cents, wheat made a net gain of 1/8 of a cent.
"Index Number Higher.
"An advance in the general level of commodity prices as measured by the Dun's Index is shown by the figures published as of the first of October. The increase, which amounts to 1.5 per cent, follows a gain of one per cent during August, and confirms the impression that the advent of fall trade has definitely checked the decline which ran through the summer."

COTTON CROP PUT AT 11,015,000 BALS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—This year's cotton crop was forecast today at 11,015,000 bales, by the Department of Agriculture. A cotton crop larger by a million quarter bales than last year's was forecast by this report. The forecast, the last of season until the December estimate, was 27,000 bales more than indicated month.

The forecast was based on the condition of the crop Sept. 25, which was 68.5 per cent of a normal, indicating a yield of 197.7 pounds per acre. A month ago crop was forecast at 10,785,000 bales, and Sept. 25, indicating a yield of 197.7 pounds per acre. Last year's crop was 10,785,000 bales, and Sept. 25, indicating a yield of 197.7 pounds per acre.

SHARP REACTION IN PRICES OF COTTON AFTER REPORT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—An excited buying movement accompanied the report of the cotton crop, which was 11,015,000 bales, by the Department of Agriculture. The report showed only 3,215,000 bales, or 29 per cent of a normal, indicating a yield of 197.7 pounds per acre. The report was a surprise to the market, and prices of cotton futures rose sharply. The report was a surprise to the market, and prices of cotton futures rose sharply.

Wall Street News and Comment —SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The principal feature in the market today was the increasing degree of interest taken in railroad shares. Baltimore & Ohio made a new high, crossing 57 1/2.

It has taken nearly a week for the market to absorb the stock that was bought in the 40's and lower 50's, anticipating dividend action. But once this absorption seemed complete, the upward tendency was resumed. As a 5-per-cent dividend payer, Baltimore & Ohio was selling where it did today on an 8 1/2-per-cent basis.

There were indications, it was said, of switching into Baltimore & Ohio from Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred, which are paying no higher dividends.

Southern Railway made a new high for the present move. There was more activity in Wabash preferred and in the Erie, this stock working higher.

In the industrial section indicated efforts to depress individual stocks like the motors were not entirely abandoned, but they were conducted more cautiously. Allied Chemical rallied later in the day after having dipped below 60. Jones Tea broke again to its low of 32 1/2, but later recovered. Burns Brothers A up 6 points from last week's low was interpreted to indicate that the decline was the result of forced selling.

The better tone was still maintained in the oil group but without the same activity as last week. White Oil sold at a new low of 11 1/2, following the announcement of the reorganization plan. This provided that holders of the present stock subscribe to the bonds of a new company, each 30 shares calling for a subscription to $100 of new common stock.

Although speculators continued to make various predictions regarding the automobile and allied shares, traders were careful about selling these short. Crop stocks, which had given way so readily Monday, got back some of their loss. Short cotton erling made itself felt in Famous Players in the last hour when operations for the rise were resumed in Industrial Alcohol. Strength was shown in Tobacco Products stocks, especially the A shares.

The bond market presented a firm tone today and sentiment among traders was much improved. Not only were bids more numerous, but there was a withdrawal of offerings with hardening of prices throughout the list. Even the United States Government loans showed signs of resistance to the selling so noticeable for the last two business days.

There was nothing in the news to account for the better feeling and there was no great increase in outside buying. High grade rails and industrials were firm with occasional fractional advances. Second grade bonds made slight advances and speculative bonds made larger advances.

The day's improvement was most noticeable in the traction issues. Rapid Transit securities 6 1/2 advanced a point and a half. Third Avenue adjustments were also strong and all the Interboro Rapid Transit bonds and notes went higher.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube 6 1/2 sustained another loss, selling down more than two points below the previous close with a subsequent rally.

For the most part the speculative rails were firm. This was true of Baltimore and Ohio issues and of the Seaboard Air Line adjustments. Seaboard refunding 4 1/2 also went a little higher. St. Paul issues were irregular.

Little interest was shown in the foreign list. There was a slight reaction in Czechoslovak 5's and in the French cities 5's.

GOMPERS SAYS PROFITEERS EXPLOIT LABOR AND FARMERS

Child Labor Chief Question Needing Attention, He Says in Convention Address.

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 2.—Loyalty to the Government of the United States and determination to improve it through the effort of organized labor was voiced by President Samuel Gompers in his address opening the forty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Labor here.

"We have made the grievances against which we are directing our energies," he added. Chief among the questions that need attention he placed child labor.

Dealing with the farm problem, he declared that profiteers have kept organized labor and farm producers apart and have exploited both.

Gompers conveyed a message of good will from President Calvin Coolidge and told of a conference in which the President showed interest in measures to check child labor and in the immigration question.

ST. LOUISAN WHO SUFFERED BROKEN NECK MAY RECOVER

J. D. Holman Was Paralyzed Until Vertebra Was Reset and Placed in Plaster Cast.

Physicians attending J. D. Holman, 34 years old, of 1924 Hickory street, who suffered a fracture of the fourth vertebra in an automobile accident near East St. Louis a week ago last Sunday, said today that Holman probably would recover from the injury, which in most cases is fatal.

A fracture of the fourth vertebra, commonly referred to as a "broken neck," usually causes the spinal cord to be severed, causing instant death. In Holman's case, his physicians say, the spinal cord was severely wrenched. After the accident and until the vertebra was reset, he was paralyzed, because of the wrenched spinal cord.

Holman, a bookmaker, is at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, with a plaster cast extending from his waist over the back part of his head in order to keep the vertebra in place and allow it to knit without undue pressure on the spinal cord. Any movement of the upper part of the body might cause the vertebra to sever the spinal cord, his physicians say, and for this reason the plaster cast will be kept on him for at least another five weeks.

Meanwhile Holman, a man of medium size, is living on liquid foods, mostly broth and milk. He has not lost weight since being placed on the diet, hospital attaches say.

Holman was driving a machine on the old Cahokia road, about two miles south of East St. Louis, when a rear wheel collapsed, turning the machine over twice. Robert L. Chestnut, 24, of 310 Buchanan street, was killed, and, besides Holman, his wife was seriously injured and four other persons were slightly injured. Mrs. Holman is recovering from a fracture at the base of the skull.

CATCHER OF 75 'CON' MEN REPORTS LANDING ANOTHER ONE

J. Frank Norfleet of Texas Has Apprehended All Six of Gang That Fleeced Him.

By the Associated Press.
DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 2.—J. Frank Norfleet of Hale Center, Hale County, Tex., the most successful amateur detective of his age, so officers here say, has at last got his man.

Fleeced out of $45,000 in Fort Worth, Tex., in November, 1919, for four years Norfleet covered this country and others tracking down and causing the arrest and conviction of 75 confidence men.

Veteran officers and detectives here declare the South Texas ranchman has done more to break up operations of confidence men in the United States than any other man in the country.

With the receipt of a message from Norfleet yesterday evening, telling of the finding of the last fugitive along his trail, the Hale County man, single-handed, has apprehended all six who were in the original group who fleeced him.

"Caught my man today in Salt Lake City."

This was the message to Chief Charles Gunning here, with whom Norfleet has conferred from time to time. Norfleet has at times taken assumed names and traveled in disguise when nearing neighborhoods where he believed some of his quarry were hiding. He has been on their trail far into Mexico and in many parts of Canada, in every state in the United States, save one, and in Cuba.

MOTORMAN WHO KILLED NEGRO BY SHOOTING HELD FOR HOMICIDE

Witnesses Testify Man Slain Used Vile Language and That Brick Was Thrown.

A Coroner's verdict of homicide, holding James Wallace, 54 years old, 4546 Kennerly avenue, was returned today in the case of Andrew Jackson, 21, of 4153 Finney avenue, a negro, who died at the city hospital yesterday of gunshot wounds suffered several hours previously at Taylor and Finney avenues.

Wallace is a motorman on the Taylor car line. Witnesses testified today that the negro, with a companion, boarded the car operated by Wallace early yesterday morning at Maffitt avenue and used vile language toward the motorman before leaving the car at Finney avenue. When the car stopped for air 50 feet south of Finney avenue, one of the negroes threw a brick at it. The motorman then fired several shots at the negro, who was found later at Finney and Newstead avenues.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

New Touring Car

Looking at the new touring car from the side, you are at once favorably impressed with the effect of longer, more graceful lines secured by enlarging the cowl and raising the radiator.

Slanting windshield and one-man top lend material aid in giving the entire car a lower, more stylish appearance.

An apron connecting the radiator with the fender skirts is also a decided improvement.

These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

How to Take Your Eye If Something Gets in It

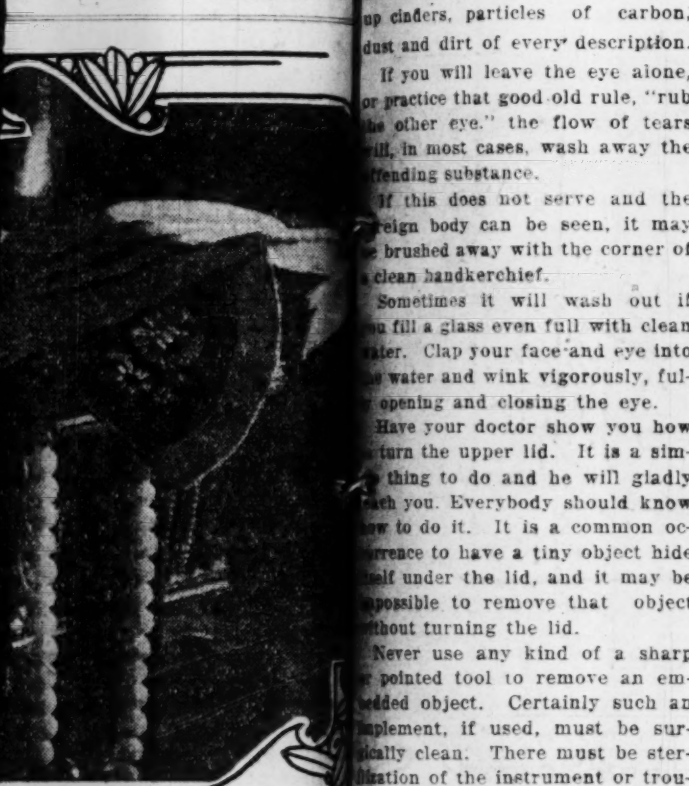

By Roy Leland, M. D.

United States Army, New York City.

I WISH it were possible for every person in the world exactly what should be done when a body enters the eye. For years I have been an unfortunate and dangerous practice prevailing everywhere is found a workman who has a peculiar habit of using his handkerchief to wipe the corner of a not-too-clean handkerchief, a pointed instrument.

This was a habit which, of any sort, may carry overlearned years ago, it seems to invite serious inflammation, if not the actual loss of the sense of surgical cleanliness.

It is not to be winked at. Some people have eyes which we know the dangers of infection. So simple a cinder in the eye may surface. The application

Some people have eyes which we know the dangers of infection. So simple a cinder in the eye may surface. The application of a glass even full with clean water and wink vigorously, full opening and closing the eye. Have your doctor show you how to turn the upper lid. It is a simple thing to do and he will gladly show you. Everybody should know how to do it. It is a common occurrence to have a tiny object hide under the lid, and it may be impossible to remove that object without turning the lid.

Never use any kind of a sharp pointed tool to remove an embedded object. Certainly such an implement, if used, must be surgically clean. There must be sterilization of the instrument or trouble may follow.

Take no chances with your sight. Your eyes are priceless possessions. You should not trust anyone to fiddle with them.

You go to a lawyer and state your troubles. He tells you he will study the matter, look up the law, and give you an opinion in a week or so. But if something is wrong with your precious body, you entrust its care and treatment to any stranger who may be passing.

That is all wrong. It is a good thing to know all about your body, and its ailments, but when you are sick or in serious physical trouble, consult your friend, the doctor.

What is believed to be of a Viking queen has been unearthed in Southern Norway. The burial chamber was found with a complete equipment for future life anticipated by paganism, including a kitchen, beds and looms.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST By ALINE MICHAELIS Everybody's Move.

BY THE tints of fields and grasses, by the crispness in the breeze, by its murmur as it passes, by the glories on the trees, we can sense the melancholy of the days about to come, and we quit all idle folly and begin to hunt a home. Yes, we leave the silver beaches and we leave the woodland glen, though the summer girls are peaches, we make haste to town again. For we recognize the season, and we've heard the wife's decree; disregarding rhyme or reason, we must have a moving spree. Though we think of it with loathing and we wildly disapprove, when we doff our summer clothing, then it's up to us to move. So we scan the daily papers and the ads we memorize, while we cut amusing capers, seeing homes of every size. There are houses that are rich in spacious rooms and ginger-bread, there are flats without a kitchen or a place to park a bed. There are houses large and stately, fit to shelter king and queen; but our pocketbook, just lately, doesn't fit that sort of scene. There are flats that cost a fortune, flats of every date and style; but we wearily importune: "Wife, let's stay here awhile." Though our place is far from roomy, and is quite devoid of cheer, thoughts of moving are so gloomy we should stay the second year. But we know we'll lose the tussle, when wife dons her autumn hat, we must needs get out and hustle till we get another flat. We would find life far more jolly, keeping in our well-worn groove, but fall days are melancholy, for it's everybody's move.

The phrase, "baker's dozen," meaning 13, arose from the practice among English bakers of throwing in an extra loaf to avoid being punished for giving short weight.

Yourselves

By J. J. MUNDY.

IS it really necessary, old man, for you to be away from home as many evenings as you are? If you really wanted to be at home, and had an honest desire to plan your work for time at home you could manage it.

It might surprise you to know that the family have thought so for a long time.

Is it not true that rather than do the necessary hustling during the day, or getting to the office earlier in the morning, you figure on working at night?

Of course, your wife has the children for company and you provide a comfortable home, but these do not meet all the requirements of a wife.

She wants some adult to talk to and to visit with in the way a woman likes to visit.

Merely talking to the children does not meet this desire.

How would you like it even a grammar-school child and talk that kind of "older baby talk" all the time, and you with an educated adult's consequent breadth of vision and capacity for enjoyment?

A fine home is nothing if companionship and congeniality are missing.

Spend more evenings at home, old man.

colored hemstitched hems, the embroidery being in the same tone as the color used. For instance, a delicate pink hem is used and wild cherry blossoms are done in the same coloring. Pale green is used with plum blossoms or delicate pink camellias, and blue lotus is done with the blue borders. Delicate moonlight blue is the shade chosen, of course, like the blue of the lotus blossom. These sets are rather scarce and should be picked up when seen, for they are seldom repeated in the same colorings.

Dainty lawn or bolting cloth sets trimmed with the ever-popular and dainty point de Paris lace are frill and lovely, almost too much so for practical daily use. Laundering is always the problem which must decide what is best for daily use, no matter how much our taste may rebel against practicability.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

WITH the diminished popularity of the tablecloth as a table covering, so many novelties in table sets have been brought forward that temptation lurks in every linen shop and department store, for the love of linens is born in most women.

Dainty sets come from Italy in cutwork and the favorite stitches of the native women. The exquisite embroideries of France are worked on the finest of materials, including old, hand-woven fine linen with a white and colored thread combined. China is contributing her share also. Elaborate Chinese embroidery on grass linen is the latest word in table-set quaintness. This artistic race have a faculty of sending forth their work so perfectly done that it looks as if human hands had no part in its making. The material never shows a blemish, or wrinkle, no matter how heavy the work or how thin the material. One set has a long runner with wide, hand-hemstitched hems and the design is a lotus pool with the bud, leaf and matured blossom in artistic arrangement. On each plate dolly a large single blossom is shown, on the glass dolly a leaf and bud—the acme of good taste in artistic designing.

No More Gray Hair —Says Science

Wonderful Clean,
Colorless Liquid
Restores Original Color
Results in a Week

Science again has scored a triumph in the discovery of a very remarkable liquid known as Kolor-Bak. If you are gray, just apply this liquid to the hair and scalp and your hair will soon take on the actual color it had in the past. Not a trace of grayness will remain.

Kolor-Bak comes in the form of a clean and colorless liquid, containing properties which quickly restore the lost color to the hair and give it renewed vigor. And note that the one preparation is for all colors of hair. No special solution required for each color—no samples of hair required.

You will find also that with Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "dyed."

Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells (called follicles or papillae) in the scalp, because these cells have become inactive from illness, shock of some kind, scalp disease, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair, or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is a real substitute for the natural pigmentation.

BEDTIME STORIES

By Thornton W. Burgess

Life is very like a race: Some are chased while others chase. —Old Mother Nature.

PETER RABBIT was going to get his wish for a race this cool October morning. There was no doubt about it. A strange dog was yelping on his trail and Peter knew that that dog's nose would lead him straight to where he, Peter, was crouching.

At last Peter dared wait no longer. That strange dog was not more than two jumps away from him. For all the world as if he had springs in those long heels of his, Peter bounded away. Of course, that dog saw him the instant he moved and was after him, yelping with excitement. Away went Peter, lippy-lippy-lip, lippy-lippy-lip, lippy-lippy-lip. Away went the dog almost at his heels.

Peter headed straight for a hedge. The strange dog knew all about that hedge. He had hunted along it many times. He knew that there was only a small hole in it big enough for a rabbit to get through. He guessed right away that Peter knew about that hole and was running for it.

"He thinks that if he gets through that hole to the other side of that hedge he will be safe," thought the dog. "He knows I can't get through that hole, but I'll fool him. Yes, sir; I'll fool him. That is just what I'll do. He has forgotten that I can jump over that hedge. Once we are both on the other side I'll catch him, for there is no place for him to hide."

Lippy-lippy-lippy-lip, ran Peter, and as he ran he was thinking, "This is a strange dog and perhaps he doesn't know about that hole in the hedge," thought Peter. "Then again perhaps he does. I shall have to fool him when I get there. If he knows about that hole he will expect me to go straight through it. I'll give him a surprise. Yes, sir, I'll give him a surprise. He'll jump over that hedge, expecting to find me on the other side. I am afraid he will be disappointed. My, but he can run fast! I'm glad it isn't any farther to that hedge than it is. But I mustn't run too fast. I want him right at my heels when I get there."

It was a pretty race. Blacky the Crow says so, for he saw it. He happened to be passing over at the time. In fact, Blacky thought for a time that he was going to see the end of Peter Rabbit. That dog was so close to Peter's heels that it looked as if Peter hadn't any chance at all. Blacky flew in a circle so as to watch. "Goodness!" said he to himself. "I do hope that dog won't catch Peter. I don't know how we ever would get along without Peter Rabbit. It doesn't seem to me that he is running his fastest. He'll have to do better than that if

Hot Thousand Island Dressing

FOR fish, corned beef hash, green vegetables, etc., a hot thousand island dressing is a luxurious addition. For the seasoning take one cup of canned tomato, one small onion cut fine, a pinch of salt and one of paprika and cook these in a garlic-rubbed saucepan until they are reduced one-half, then strain. Heat this up and pour it in a thin stream into a half cup of mayonnaise dressing, put over the fire and stir constantly until the edges begin to thicken.

BRAN BREAD (With Yeast)

Two cups bran, 1 cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon shortening (any preferred kind), 1-3 cup molasses, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 yeast cake soaked in 1-3 cup lukewarm water, 4 cups flour.

Pour boiling water over bran and let stand one-half hour; add shortening (melted) molasses, salt, yeast, and flour. Beat well, let rise, turn into buttered bread pans, let rise again and bake one hour.

Lippy-lippy-lippy-lip, ran Peter. "Yelp, yelp, yelp!" ran the dog at his heels. The dog didn't have to put his nose down to the ground at all. All he had to do was to keep his eyes on Peter's white tail just in front of him. With every jump they drew nearer to that hedge. It was clear that Peter was making straight for that hole in the hedge, just as the dog had expected he would. The dog began to run a little faster. So did Peter.

The Man on the Sandbox

WARTS AND THEIR CURE.
TELL me not in mournful meter
That a wart cannot be cured;
Life without them would be sweeter
And our happiness insured.

Life is real, life is placid,
If you have a wartless mitt;
And a little caustic acid
Makes the warts get up and git.

Trust no lotion, how'er pleasant,
For they are not worth a boot;
Warts that are among those present
Must be taken at the root.

Lives of great men all remind us,
We can make our lives sublime,
And departing leave behind us
Wartprints on the hands of time.

Let us, then, eradicate 'em
With a heart devoid of fears;
Don't endeavor to outwit 'em
Or they'll stick around for years.

TOO TRUE.
But the wart humanum we will always have with us.

As usual it looks like the demand for world's series tickets will exceed the supply. Yes, the interest isn't waning.

Both "Kid" Gleason and Miller Huggins say that Eddie Collins is the most valuable second baseman of all time. Praise from two such former expert second sackers makes a boost for Sir Hubert look like a knock.

From a second division standpoint the regular baseball season should end about the middle of September. Why prolong the agony?

See where John McGraw has given Babe Ruth a job on his All-Star team in spite of the Bam's world's series record.

He has also put Rogers Hornsby on second base probably with a view to promoting him later on to a permanent job with the Giants.

SPEAKING OF RECORDS:
Cy Williams has worked under twelve different managers in twelve years. However, as Art Fletcher has been appointed to succeed himself as manager of the Phils next year, Cy will have to go to some other club to keep his record intact.

Furthermore Johnny promised his mother he wouldn't fight any more this year.

That Willis boy has been trying for a long time to pick a quarrel with him but Jack has decided to just stay north of the railroad tracks and ignore him.

FAVORITE STORIES

By Irvin S. Cobb

A SMALL TALE ABOUT A LARGE NOSE.
A NEW YORK playwright, famous for a gift of sardonic humor, was invited one evening to join an after-theater party at one of the Broadway cafes.
The prospective host told him he would be expected to pay some attention to a lady friend of his—the host's—flancee.
The dramatist was wary. He remembered that more than once he had been called in at the eleventh hour to fill this role.
"Tell me something about this girl," he said. "Is she good looking or is she one of those total losses?"
"Well," admitted his friend, "she isn't exactly what I'd call a raving beauty, but she's awfully nice—good company and all that sort of thing, you know."
"Yes, I know," said the playwright, mournfully. "Well, for your sake, I'll take a chance."
When he reached the appointed rendezvous at midnight, his worst fears were justified. Sitting at a table with his friend and his friend's sweetheart was an exceedingly dumb-looking young woman. Her most outstanding feature—and in this connection the word "feature" advisedly is used—was an enormous hook nose. To the dismayed eyes of the new arrival it loomed as the largest nose he had ever seen affixed to a human countenance. So, before joining the party he fortified himself copiously from the contents of his pocket flask.
Presently, somewhat groggy, but bearing himself with all proper dignity, he approached the group and introductions took place. With some slight difficulty he seated himself. His fascinated gaze meanwhile fixed upon the nose of his appointed vis-a-vis. An embarrassing little pause followed. Nobody seemed to have anything to say. It was the befuddled dramatist who broke the silence. Bending forward and addressing the stranger, he said, politely:
"I beg your pardon, but do you smell anything dead around here?"
"Why, no," she said.
"Well, then," he continued, with an air of finality, "there can't be anything dead around here."
